Anti-Castro Planes Fly Over Havana

Mystery Craft Bomb Capital With Leaflets

Alleged Leader Of Plot Arrested

HAVANA (AP)—Two mysterious intruder planes showered Havana with anti-Castro leaflets Wednesday and fled while Cuban air force planes roared aloft in pursuit. Apparently no air battle was joined.

At the same time anti-Castro gangs sped through the capital streets in cars tossing out small bombs.

Radio Voz reported shortly after the leaflet bombing that at least 10 persons were wounded and one was killed by falling bombs.

The Cuban air force said it had no indication that bombs had been dropped from the air. They said they believed the casualties resulted from bombs thrown from cars.

Cuban government sources said they believed the intruder planes were U.S.-based. Havana is a little over 100 miles from U.S. soil.

The Cuban air force said it sent eight planes up after the intruders. They included American-made B26 bombers, British-made Sea Fury fighters and Lockheed T33 jets.

A Cuban air patrol flew a protective cover over the capital Wednesday night.

Government officials were believed in emergency session immediately after the double-pronged demonstration.

The leaflets carried propaganda under the name of a defected Cuban air force chief who fled to the United States months ago.

Provincial Military Commander Seized

CAMAGUEY, Cuba (AP)—Amid tumult in the streets around his provincial military headquarters, Maj. Hubert Matos surrendered quietly Wednesday for investigation on a charge of plotting against Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government.

Castro himself was in this old Spanish-style city 300 miles east of Havana for the arrest. Between 4,000 and 5,000 workers and peasants were mobilized by radio for an assault and milled about expectantly. But the assault order never came.

Army commander Maj. Camilo Cienfuegos, who flew with Castro from Havana, walked into the headquarters and came out unopposed with Matos, a bearded associate of both in the revolution that felled ex-President Fulgencio Batista's dictatorship.

Cienfuegos said Matos had planned a coup d'etat. Matos later left Camaguey for Havana. Informed sources said 30 other officers, members of Castro's revolutionary forces, also were taken to Havana under guard but there was no official confirmation.

Castro took to a radio-TV network to accuse Matos of being vain and ungrateful. His denunciation resembled that which he used in attacking and ousting Manuel Urrutia from the presidency last July.

Castro's live audience—the workers and peasants summoned from benches and fields—cheered repeatedly as Castro tore into Matos' reputation. He said Matos had accused his government falsely of being Communist.

Would Place Rocket Team Under NASA

Reorganization Plan To Trigger Congress Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower decided Wednesday to strip the Army of its rocket development team and turn it over to the civilian space agency. He said this would strengthen the national space effort.

"I have concluded that the Army Ballistic Missile Agency can best serve the national interest as an integral part of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration," Eisenhower announced from his vacation headquarters in Augusta, Ga.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty told a news conference the President will send Congress in January a reorganization plan to put the transfer into effect. The plan will go into force automatically 60 days after its submission, unless either the House or Senate vetoes it.

Eisenhower's proposal is certain to trigger another big argument on Capitol Hill, where the administration's space and missile programs have been under heavy Democratic attack in the past.

Symington Criticizes Move

Quick to criticize the plan was Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), a former secretary of the Air Force. He said the Army's space-missile team started to disband with the resignation of Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris as Army missile chief and "may be further adversely affected by this latest transfer decision."

"That is particularly unfortunate because it is a fact that we are behind in the long-range missile race, and far behind in the space field," Symington said in announcing he has asked the Senate Space and Armed Services Committee to investigate.

Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker said the Army "wholeheartedly supports the decision" made by Eisenhower. NASA administrator T. Keith Glennan said he believed Eisenhower's action was in the best interests of the nation.

Superbooster Program

It was clear that Eisenhower's decision means the civilian space agency would take over the team of 2,300 scientists and technicians at Huntsville, Ala., and the work they have been doing on a giant new rocket cluster intended to generate 1½ million pounds of thrust. A rocket engine of that power would be bigger than anything the Soviets are believed to have so far.

The President said he had directed that the superbooster program, called Project Saturn, be vigorously pressed forward. Perfection of such a giant booster, capable of hurling heavy vehicles far into space, is believed years away.

It was not clear from Eisenhower's announcement what would be the future of the Nike-Zeus anti-missile project, another big job assigned until now to the Army agency. The Army has spent $75 million dollars on this work in the past three years.

Hagerty had no word on the Nike-Zeus project's status in light of the shift. But in general he indicated the Army would retain control of missile development for purely military purposes.

Chessman Wins Another Stay Of Execution

WASHINGTON (AP)—Caryl Chessman, lovers' lane bandit and prison author, won a new stay of execution from the Supreme Court Wednesday, two days before he was scheduled to die in California's gas chamber.

It was the seventh time in the 11½ years Chessman has spent in San Quentin Prison's death row that the courts have canceled his appointments with death. It was the second time in 10 appeals to the Supreme Court that the high tribunal has stepped in.

The court gave his attorney, George T. Davis of San Francisco, until Nov. 3 to file a new appeal. But the justices refused to give him until Nov. 18, as Davis had asked.

After the appeal is filed, the State of California may, within 30 days, file a reply in opposition to further Supreme Court consideration of the case.

The eight justices who took part in the decision then will decide whether they will grant a hearing on the new appeal.

If they turn him down, Chessman's conviction with the death penalty would stand. A new hearing could delay the decision on his fate for weeks, possibly months.

Davis had asked Justice Douglas, who supervises the federal courts in California, to grant a stay. Douglas referred the appeal to the full court. Chief Justice Warren, a former governor of California, disqualifies himself.

Chessman, now 38, received the news of his latest reprieve without comment. He merely thanked the guard.

This latest chapter in an unusual story in American legal annals came just two days after California's Gov. Edmund G. Brown turned down an appeal for clemency. Brown had no comment on the high court's action.

Prayer, Medical Science Fail To Save Girl Quints

The parents and doctors said Wednesday they knew beforehand baby D alive a little more than eight hours longer than her sisters.

The babies, all weighing less than 2 pounds, did not have names while they lived. Doctors referred to them in the alphabetical order in which they were born. Later names were added to the A, B, C, D, E identifications.

"All the time I worked, I knew that we really could not save them," said Lt. Col. Thomas M.

West Summit Parley Favored By Eisenhower

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—The White House said Wednesday President Eisenhower favors a western summit conference and is willing to attend one at any time. The announcement was made by Press Secretary James Hagerty at Eisenhower's vacation headquarters. Hagerty added that Eisenhower will hold a news conference here Thursday at 10 a.m. (EST), and suggested to reporters that they ask the President then about his views regarding an East-West meeting which Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev would attend.

But in the meantime, Hagerty said, the President "is willing, in favor of, and believes it would be worthwhile to have a western summit meeting with our allies."

Hagerty added: "He (Eisenhower) is ready to attend such a meeting any time from now on."

That appeared to make it just about certain the President will hold a meeting, probably fairly soon, with French President Charles de Gaulle, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

The time and place may be Paris in November.

Eisenhower reportedly has been urging in private correspondence that De Gaulle, Macmillan and Adenauer meet with him soon to pave the way for a possible summit session with Khrushchev.

U.N. Votes Indirect Censure Of China's Tibet Suppression

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—The United Nations General Assembly late Wednesday approved a resolution calling for respect for civil and religious liberties in Tibet.

Only the Soviet bloc opposed the measure. The vote was 45 to 9 with 26 abstentions.

The margin in favor of the indirect censure of Red China's brutal suppression of the Dalai Lama's Himalayan kingdom was greater than had been expected.

Yugoslavia and Indonesia, which had voted with the Soviet bloc against putting the Tibetan item on the agenda for debate, abstained.

India, host to the exiled Dalai Lama and 12,000 of his followers, also abstained, as did Britain, France, Belgium, Spain, South Africa, Finland, the Dominican Republic and 17 members of the Afro-Asian group.

Nationalist China highlighted the closing day of the two-day assembly debate with charges that the Chinese Communists threatened free Asian countries south of the Himalayas with a massive buildup of military manpower, strategic roads and airfields in Tibet.

Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon, carefully avoiding taking sides, saw a chance for reconciliation between the 23-year-old Dalai Lama and the Red Chinese who drove him from his country.

"The Dalai Lama is still a young person," Krishna Menon said.

British Ambassador Sir Pierson Dixon expressed the belief of many abstainers that any action would be in conflict with the charter's injunction against U.N. interference in domestic affairs of states. He said he believed the assembly's indignation could be more firmly expressed in speeches than in voting a formal resolution.

Washington Tuesday to come to the Augusta National Golf Club, one of his favorite recreation spots, for five days of golf.

The White House said his decision was prompted by a forecast from Augusta that the weather in this area would be balmy the rest of the week.

Actually it was miserable as the President arrived. And that wasn't all; the latest word was that the rain might not let up for a day or so.

"We'll have some fun anyway," Eisenhower remarked to Julian Roberts, a fellow member of the club who greeted him.

The cost to the government will be $3,000 for the cartoon films plus the expense of printing and mailing leaflets which will be offered to viewers and listeners.

SEC officials estimate the leaflets may add $3,000 to $12,000 to the cost, depending on how many are ordered.

With so many Americans trying their luck in Wall Street, high-pressure stock selling by telephone is a major problem of the SEC. Platoons of salesmen manning telephones in "boiler rooms" lure investors with wild claims for stocks that are virtually worthless, SEC says.

The SEC has no firm estimate of how much money the stock gyps are getting, but the amount runs into millions of dollars. Thus it figures it is getting a bargain on its radio-TV campaign.

The SEC, which polices the stock markets, enlisted the cooperation of the Advertising Council for the campaign. The broadcasting industry will donate air time.

France Would Delay Summit Talks To Spring

PARIS (AP)—France has put the brakes on U.S. and British talk of a summit meeting in December. President Charles de Gaulle Wednesday held out for a springtime meeting of the four East-West leaders.

Amid unconfirmed reports that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may soon visit Paris for two-way talks with De Gaulle, the French government announced this as its stand on the summit: If the world climate is changed in the coming months, then the Big Four could hold a general discussion next spring "of the problems which divide the world."

This statement of the Cabinet, which met with De Gaulle presiding, brought formally into the open the differences among the Western Big Three over the summit meeting with Khrushchev on cold war issues.

In Washington, President Eisenhower met with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, apparently to discuss ways of settling the dispute with France over timing of a meeting. Eisenhower is understood to have proposed a meeting with his Western partners early next month to clear the way for a possible summit meeting in the first 10 days of December.

In London, the Foreign Office commented: "We have always felt that it—the summit meeting—ought to take place rather earlier than the spring." It added that there would have to be discussions on a date to propose to Moscow.

Paris (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is believed likely to visit President Charles de Gaulle, possibly in January, some informed sources said Wednesday.

There was no confirmation from official French and Soviet sources but neither would they deny the reports.

Government attorneys argued against issuance of Judge Staley's stay, but an attorney for the strike-bound steel firms said the steel industry had no objections because opening and closing steel mills is an arduous and costly process.

Judge Sorg's momentous ruling was delayed by a three-hour conference among company and union attorneys over retroactive pay.

The union told the judge that if the strikers returned to work under an injunction, any economic settlement negotiated in the meantime should be retroactive to the resumption of work.

Company attorneys objected to this proposal, contending "the court would be settling in favor of the union one of the most important terms of collective bargaining."

Judge Sorg reserved a decision on the retroactivity issue. He said he did so "at the request of all parties concerned."

Steel Union Granted Stay Of T-H Edict

Constitutionality Question Raised; Hearing Set Today

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A U.S. district judge Wednesday ordered the record 99-day steel strike halted temporarily. But the strike rolled on as an appellate judge delayed execution of the Taft-Hartley edict.

Judge Austin Staley of the U.S. 3rd Circuit Court of Appeals granted the striking United Steelworkers Union a stay of the order until Thursday morning.

That meant no reopening of mills and pickets continued on duty. He said the Taft-Hartley injunction would become effective then unless the union asks a full three-member 3rd Circuit Court panel in Philadelphia for a further stay pending formal hearing of the union's appeal. Arthur J. Goldberg, USW general counsel, said he would be before the court at 10 a.m.

Judge Staley said the union had challenged the constitutionality of a section of the Taft-Hartley Act granting courts the right to ban strikes. He added the contention merited further exploration.

The Philadelphia jurist acted within an hour after Judge Herbert P. Sorg of the U.S. District Court here issued a permanent injunction banning steel strike activity for 80 days.

Judge Sorg's order directed the 500,000 striking Steelworkers to return to their jobs.

No Emergency, Union Contents

Government attorneys, acting on instructions from President Eisenhower, sought the injunction on grounds the strike was endangering the nation's economic health and safety.

The union vigorously opposed the government request, contending the strike has not caused any national emergency.

Judge Sorg agreed with the government in his decision.

"Findings of fact on evidence establishes that the prolonged steel strike has been inimical to the general welfare, people and strength of our nation," he said.

Under the Taft-Hartley Act, both sides are required to continue collective bargaining during the life of an injunction.

Judge Staley said the paramount issue to be decided by the circuit court is whether the union's challenge of Taft-Hartley constitutionality is valid.

The union maintains that the part of the Taft-Hartley law under which the government brought its petition is illegal. According to the union, this section empowers the courts to issue injunctions against an act legal in itself—the right to strike.

Sources close to the circuit court said they believe this question has never arisen before in the court.

Steel Firms Don't Object

The union's petition for an appeal was filed with the court immediately after Judge Sorg handed down the injunction. The legal papers had been prepared beforehand and an attorney was standing by in Philadelphia waiting for word from the union here to proceed.

Government attorneys argued against issuance of Judge Staley's stay, but an attorney for the strike-bound steel firms said the steel industry had no objections because opening and closing steel mills is an arduous and costly process.

Judge Sorg's momentous ruling was delayed by a three-hour conference among company and union attorneys over retroactive pay.

The union told the judge that if the strikers returned to work under an injunction, any economic settlement negotiated in the meantime should be retroactive to the resumption of work.

Kidnap Charge Faces Emotion-Packed Woman, 47, In Case Funeral Service Of Reluctant Groom Held For Lanza

ELKTON, Md. (AP)—Mrs. An- geline Sailer, 47, who tried to coax a reluctant bridegroom toward the altar with the aid of a gun, was sent back to New Jersey Wednes- day to face a kidnaping charge.

She got her man—Robert K. Worrell, 68-year-old retired sea- man from Moorestown, N.J.—as far as the marriage license bu- reau in this town famed for speedy marriages last Monday. And the application was filed out.

But when a court clerk asked Worrell to swear what he had writ- ten was the truth, he blurted: "I won't swear until she gets that gun out of her bag."

Sheriff Earl Startt happened to be nearby and arrested her on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Tuesday Magistrate Leonard Lockhart found her guilty. Wednes- day he sentenced her to up to one year in the Maryland Reformatory for Women, then suspended the term.

That was the cue for New Jersey officers, standing by, to move in. They did. She agreed to return to New Jersey to face abduction charges there.

Maryland Dope Addict Prison Law Opposed

BALTIMORE (AP) — A judge and a doctor opposed Wednesday the Maryland handling of narcotic addicts.

Judge Emory Niles, chief of the Baltimore Supreme Bench, urged repeal of the mandatory mini- mum prison sentence. In so doing, he was contrary to previous testi- mony by Judge Anselm Sodaro of the same court.

Dr. John T. King, spokesman for the Medical and Chirurgial Faculty, went even farther. He opposed all jail sentences.

Dr. Irving J. Taylor, director of a private psychiatric hospital in Ellicott City, seconded the views of Dr. King.

They were heard by a Legisla- tive Council committee studying the state law on narcotics.

"Mandatory sentences are a re- version to a primitive kind of law," Judge Niles said.

"I don't think there is any dan- ger in allowing the judge discre- tion."

Probation or parole "should not be cut off from the narcotics ad- dict unless it is done to protect public safety," Judge Niles said. The present law for mandatory sentences doesn't differentiate be- tween major or minor offenders, or among the user, peddler and supplier, he added.

"One cannot legislate this sort of evil out of society," Dr. Taylor said.

"In fact, punishment is not a deterrent but one way of catering to the illness since addicts often seek punishment."

Dr. Taylor and Dr. King main- tained that the problem of addicts is medical treatment, not jail im- prisonment.

Child Adoption Case Sent Back To Circuit Court

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Court of Appeals Wednesday ordered further proceedings in the case of 2-year-old Johnny Montgomery, whose adoption by a Salisbury couple is disputed by his former foster parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd R. Crump of Silver Spring, in whose home Johnny spent his first 18 months as a foster child, brought the suit. They appealed from a Wicomico County Circuit Court decision which upheld a welfare depart- ment award of the child to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Montgomery of near Salisbury.

The Court of Appeals said the three-judge lower court failed to make an independent judgment in the case and accepted merely the recommendation of the Mont- gomery County Welfare Board that the child be placed with the Salisbury couple.

The high court noted that the welfare board's judgment was ac- cepted although the chancellors indicated they personally favored the Crumps as the adoptive par- ents.

The court said it was remand- ing the case so lower court could:

1. "Take such additional testi- mony as it desires."
2. "Have an independent inves- tigation made of the prospective adoptive parents and the infant if it deems necessary and desir- able."
3. "And render a final and defi- nite finding, insofar as that court is concerned, as to what will best serve the welfare and best inter- ests of Johnny."

Johnny was placed with the Crumps when he was 7 days old by the Montgomery County Wel- fare Board. The Crumps were re- imursed by the county for his care.

The couple previously had taken five other foster children into the home, knowing they would be tak- en away for adoption within three to six months.

Johnny remained in their home, for some 15 months before the welfare board decided to place him for adoption. The welfare of- ficials had ruled that Johnny was not adoptable sooner because of poor showing in psychological tests. Meanwhile, the Crumps said, and expressed verbal wishes to they became very fond of Johnny adopt him.

Transfer From Vault Blamed

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Miss Louise E. Magruder, who found mold growing on some bound volumes of old land records here, asked the Court of Appeals Wednesday to take steps so this doesn't happen again.

The Annapolis genealogist, appealing from an Anne Arundel Circuit Court decision, wants the old records put back in a fire-proof, dehumidified vault in the crowded Hall of Records. They were taken from the vault and placed in a converted conference room in the State Office Building where the mold appeared. Her attorney, Eugene M. Childs, charged this was both illegal and impractical.

He said the Board of Public Works, in authorizing the transfer, went beyond its powers. The board "has avoided the mandate of a legislative directive that all the state's ancient documents are to be gathered and preserved in one location," Childs said.

The attorney for the Halls of Records Commission argued that original plans did not call for the Land Office to be part of the Hall of Records building. He further contended the Board of Public Works has the "power to designate the location of any state agency."

What Shall I Tell My Daughters?

• A mother who has thought deeply about the problem has made her decision. She is "not naive enough to think that little chats about conception and bodily structure are sufficient." In November Reader's Digest, she tells how she will arm her teen-age daughters with a single neglected word.

BREAKFAST SPEAKER—Brother E. Paul, director of Anselm Hall, Elkins Park, Pa., will be guest speaker at the annual breakfast of the LaSalle Mothers Club Sunday, in St. Mary's parish hall. Brother Paul holds a master's degree in Spanish from the University of Pennsylvania. He spent three years as principal and supervisor of West Philadelphia Catholic High School and one at the mother house in Rome. Rev. Charles Bogan will be celebrant for the 10 a. m. mass, preceding the breakfast.

Committees Are Appointed

Saint Mary's Parents' Club appointed Harry Smith and Mrs. Frank Kastner activities committee chairmen at the meeting recently in the church hall. John Coyle and Mrs. James Day were named co-chairmen. Other members are Mrs. Clarence Englebach, Mrs. James Scarpelli, Mrs. Thomas Carroll, Mrs. William Hay, Mark Naughton, Earl Humbertson, Hubert Feeney and Robert Burkey.

Mrs. Thomas Mullan presided. Rev. James Hobbs led the opening prayer. Plans were made for a bake sale October 26 in the church hall. The club will have charge of the refreshment booth during the parish fair, to be held the first week of November. Sixth grade mothers will be in charge November 19.

Seventh grade mothers served refreshments and a sale was held with Robert Burkey in charge.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Oldtown Volunteer Firemen will meet at 8 tonight at the home of Mrs. Joseph Hercsuth. Banquet plans are to be completed.

Mrs. Oster Heads Club

Two officers were elected and activities were discussed at the meeting of the Flintstone Homemakers, held at the home of Mrs. William Mauzy. Mrs. Paul Oster was elected president and Mrs. H. C. Willison, treasurer.

The club discussed and decided to serve lunch to 37 women from Baltimore in the Flintstone fire hall. The food committee was appointed and consists of Mrs. R. T. Gilson, Mrs. Harold Chaney, and Mrs. Leslie Wigfield. The group said the Lord's Prayer and Miss Lena Treed read the Home-makers Creed. Miss Pearl Wilson gave the history of the hymn, "In Christ There is no East or West," and it was sung by the group. Roll call was answered to "Has credit been a friend or foe to my family?" Miss Mary Wise spoke on credit and led a discussion by the members.

The club voted to donate $10 to buy a book to be placed in the Extension Office for a period of one year, and if not used then to be moved to the library. Action was taken after a talk by Miss Maude Bean.

Mrs. Douglas Smith, county president, announced the Achievement Day luncheon to be at La-Vale Methodist Church November 12. The business session will be at 11 and the luncheon at 12:15. Club chairmen received their reports, to be filled out and returned to the president as soon as possible. Mrs. Guy Thompson read the quotation of the month. Following the singing of "Reuben and Rachel," refreshments were served by Mrs. Mauzy and her daughter, Mrs. William Heavner.

Others present were Mrs. Russell Dolly, Mrs. Kenneth McLaughlin, Mrs. Curtis Nash, Mrs. Franklin Norris, Mrs. Carolye Nixon, Mrs. B. C. Robinette, Mrs. Chester Robinette, Mrs. Howard Robinette, Mrs. Leah Twigg, and Mrs. Oka Twigg. Mrs. Irene McDonald was a guest.

T.O. Meeting To Be Held Jointly

A joint meeting with the Vera Blinn Society was planned by the Women's Society of World Service of First EUB Church, held at the church. It is to be November 10 and will be the annual Thank Offering meeting.

Mrs. William Knotts conducted the meeting and reminded the members to have packages of good used clothing, layettes, yardage and yarn ready for World Community Day November 6. In reference to this a filmstrip was shown pertaining to the need of clothes in many areas of the world. The group was invited to attend any of the five services to be held in the city; and also the "Every Member Training" meeting of the Council of Church Women October 29 at First Presbyterian Church.

The Scripture was read by Mrs. Hilda Snyder. Mrs. William Brake sang several selections from the Scottish Psalter. The study topic pertained to the church's missionary work in the Red Bird and Cumberland areas of Kentucky. Taking part were Mrs. Whiting Linaberg, Mrs. Thomas Smith, Mrs. Bernice Wolford and Mrs. E. E. Miller.

A social followed and refreshments were served by Mrs. Kenneth Turner Sr., Mrs. Walter Long and Mrs. Miller.

Entertainment Will Feature Elks Dance

Entertainment for the weekly Elks dance will be by the Knoxville, Pa., lodge. A group of 25 will present the 45-minute "Minstrelaires Show," beginning at 11 p.m.

Harry S. Tracy, chairman, reports reservations will be limited to 125 couples.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Accent On Elbows

Today let's consider arm deviations. Take this test. Stand with your arms straight down at your sides. Then, raise both arms diagonally outward to shoulder height. Turn your palms slowly up toward the ceiling.

If your elbow joints tend to bulge inward toward each other, you will note that they appear enlarged along the inner borders and that the lower arms are out of alignment with the upper arms. This is the fault that makes so many women self-conscious about their arms in short sleeves or evening dress.

All it takes to bring your elbows back into a beautiful relationship with the rest of your arms is a little re-education of your arm muscles. Start by keeping the palms of your hands turned downward as much as possible. For example, in picking up a small object, such as a book, reach toward it with the palm down and lift with the thumb under and the fingers on top.

The following corrective exercise will help too: Standing with your arms at shoulder level, roll your arms inward as far as they will go. Relax and repeat five times daily.

When a fault can so easily be corrected, no woman should be willing to let it detract from her grace and beauty. Start exercising today, and watch your elbow contours improve.

TOMORROW: Prevent Double Chin!

HOW MUCH SHOULD YOU WEIGH? A new, lightning calculator that tells you how to compute your own individual ideal weight. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing the (in coin) and a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ask for "How Much Should You Weigh?"

Man Given Year Term For Non-Support

The father of seven children was given a year in the House of Correction when his appeal from a Juvenile Court sentence was heard by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Oscar May, who said he hasn't worked for the past three years because of illness, was told by the judge that the House of Correction furnishes good medical care. May came to court yesterday with a long record of past offenses involving non-support and two morals charges involving two different 16-year-old girls.

His brushes with the law dated back to July 15, 1943, on a morals charge. He was charged in 1954 with contributing to the delinquency of his six minor children and given a suspended sentence.

In 1955, he was tried in Juvenile Court for violation of parole and was given a six-month jail term, which was suspended. He was placed in parole for two years.

In 1957 he was tried on a charge of contributing to the negligence and abuse of his own children and given a year's suspended sentence.

In May 1959 he was ordered to bring his pay to the Juvenile Court and in June 1959 he was back in court for non-support. He was again given a one-year suspended sentence, and September 3 there was a conference in Juvenile Court.

The following day he was found guilty of violating his parole and given a one-year sentence in the House of Correction.

In another non-support appeal case heard by Judge Harris, the defendant, John Riley Welch, Jane Frazier Village, was found not guilty.

His wife, Joyce Lee Welch, also of another address at Jane Frazier Village, testified that the last support she received from him was in March.

Since that time, Welch stated, he was fired from a local plant, and also was unable to get work to pay his wife and keep their two children. She stated she received $107 a month from County Welfare Department plus $9.50 a month because of a special diet she requires.

Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney, presented the state's cases. Welch was defended by Thomas N. Berry.

Housing Authority Gets Bids On Project Judge Reduces

Sentence Of Gilmore Man

The George Construction Company of Cumberland Tuesday submitted low bid for the proposed housing project on Oldtown Road.

James P. Raines, executive director of the Cumberland Housing Authority, announced that two firms submitted bids on the project.

The bids, opened Tuesday afternoon, were $975,375 by the George firm and $1,007,340 by the Hazelbrick Construction Company of Cumberland.

The two bids will be forwarded to the Public Housing Administration in Washington for final approval with the local authority recommending accepting the George bid.

The first bids on the project were opened September 14, but were rejected by the Public Housing Authority for being too high.

S. Russ Minter, local architect, entrance and will extend approximately two feet from the buildings. This will provide protection from the weather and also make the buildings cooler in the summer.

The bids also call for complete landscaping of the area, construction of a 36,000 square foot playground area and off-street parking lots.

The units will feature gas stoves, electric refrigeration and wall cabinets in the kitchens. The apartments will consist of living room, dining room and kitchen on the first floor and bedroom units on the second floor. Minter said the size of the family will decide the number of bedrooms they are assigned.

Minter pointed out that with the construction of the third housing project a total of 235 families will be housed in the low-rent projects in Cumberland.

The housing units on Oldtown Road will also have forced hot water heating, and the floors in the bedrooms will be of hardwood. The first floor will have asphalt tile and all walls will be of plaster.

Work is expected to be completed in 300 construction days. However, an additional period will be required for landscaping.

The site of the city of Cleveland was laid out in 1796 by Gen. Moses Cleveland. The city was named after him, but the first "a" was dropped in the spelling.

Popp Given Chance To Clean Properties

Thomas L. Popp, who was lodged in Allegany County Jail Monday in lieu of a $1,425 fine levied in Police Court on zoning charges, was released for 10 days yesterday so that he may clean up his properties.

Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt, who found the man guilty of three separate violations of zoning regulations Monday, released Popp at the request of City Attorney William R. Carscaden so that he may clean up his properties on Lee Street, Willis Creek Avenue and Johnson Street.

Magistrate Weatherholt instructed Popp to report back to the court on November 2 and that if the properties were not improved, he would impose the 90-day jail sentence and recommend to the city attorney that civil action be taken.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: My boy friend is 18. He's a big, strapping, good-looking guy but he's full of aches and complaints. I never know if we're going to be able to attend a dance or a party because he may not be feeling well. I've had to miss out on many good times because he had a headache or an upset stomach.

He carries a thermometer in a pencil case and is always taking his temperature. His mother babies him and wouldn't let him play ball in high school because she was afraid he'd get over-heated. We didn't go to the senior prom because he felt he was coming down with something. The next day he was just fine.

What can I do with a fellow like this? He's a swell guy and fun to be with when he's feeling O.K.—F.G.W.

DEAR F. G. W.: Mama put a klinker in Junior's thinker and it will take professional therapy to remove it.

An 18-year-old boy who travels around with a thermometer in his pencil case is in bad shape. He and some nurse will be very happy.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: After reading your column today I am off you for life. Our household just got back to normal after that.

DEAR SUBURBANELLA: Putting starch in a man's shorts is no way to get to the seat of a problem.

DEAR ANN: How can I make my 15-year-old brother see the danger of hitch-hiking?

More than one young person has met with a horrible fate because he got into a car with a stranger. I refer to both in-the-city hitching as well as on the highway. Anyone who gets into a car with a stranger takes a chance with his life.

The other night my brother told me (as if it were a joke) that he hitched a ride with a man who turned out to be a homosexual. "I sure got out of there fast!" he laughed.

It was then that I decided to write you this letter. Please print it. It may save a life.—BIG BROTHER

DEAR BIG BROTHER: Hitch-hiking is illegal in many states. But there's no law against offering a ride to a stranger who is standing on a curb. Even if there were you couldn't control it entirely because the decision rests with the individual.

Riding with a stranger can be an invitation to disaster and I hope your letter will alert those who haven't given serious thought to the repercussions. Hitch-hiking is dangerous from the driver's point of view as well. Heinous crimes have victimized good hearted motorists who picked up strangers and were found dead—in a ditch.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WONDERING: Stop wondering and use your head. "Scientific" mate selecting is the bunk. Any person who would permit an agency to match him up for life must be pretty sick to begin with. These "agencies" aren't in business for their health. Wake up.

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Young Methodist Adults Plan Food Project

The next rally of the Methodist Young Adult Fellowship will be held today at 7:30 p. m. at the Frostburg Methodist Church in the form of a "Harvest Festival".

Fellowship officials said donations to the harvest will include juices. It was stressed that Health Department regulations forbid the collection of canned goods in glass jars, except for preserves and jellies. Cash contributions will

The speaker at the fellowship service will be Rev. F. Reid Isaac, executive director of the Board of Child Care for the Methodist Church.

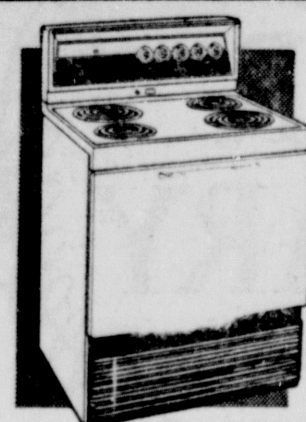

Young Adult Fellowship from all of the churches in the Cumberland District are expected to be represented at the rally, and if the various units are unable to have representatives attend it was suggested that they conduct their own food collections and see that they are delivered to the rally.

Persons who can be contacted to insure delivery include Charles E. Frankenberg, 20 Bowery Street, Frostburg, whose telephone number is OV 9-6045; Harry C. Jenkins, Midland, HO 3-6582; and Vincent M. Thompson, LaVale, PA 4-2340.

'Golden Age' Of The Jets

There have been frequent predictions that jet airliners would usher in lower fares. But the trend has been in the other direction as the planes proved more costly than some airlines anticipated. Also, the airlines have had to pay higher airport fees to compensate the terminals for increased costs, such as for longer runways.

The International Air Transport Association at its Honolulu meeting discussed the subject for three weeks before adjourning without any action. Theoretically, this will leave airlines free after April 1 to set their own rates on routes not covered by IATA agreements. But few airline officials think there will be any price wars, especially as more and more lines take on the costs of jets.

The big airlines wanted to establish "economy class" fares over large sections of the globe (with passengers served sandwiches instead of hot meals). But the little fellows were hesitant to take the chance.

Eventually such a move may be inevitable. To fill up the jets for fast trip after fast trip will require mass travel in the truest sense. And that will entail cutting fares considerably below present levels. The public can be patient in the meantime as the airlines ply their way through the huge added costs of jumping to jets.

But the sooner the lines—including the small ones—see the light and knock down the fares, the sooner will come that golden age of international tourist travel which the jets were supposed to usher in.

These Days

Cut-Priced

These figures are significant: In 1957, steel mill products were imported into the United States to the amount of 1,152,549 metric tons; in 1958, it came to 1,702,819; during the first seven months of 1959, the imports amounted to 2,341,451 metric tons.

These figures tell a story of the increasing importation of our basic manufactured commodity which affects every industry of this country. It means that increasingly, European steel is finding its way into this country.

True, the United States has the capacity to manufacture about 140,000,000 tons of steel when there is no strike. But the increase indicates that the price of foreign steel is more satisfactory to the steel consumer than it has formerly been. It is true that during part of 1959, there had been a strike which produced a shortage of American-made steel, but it will be noted that there was an increase in 1958 over 1957 and that the 1959 period includes months when there was no strike.

It would seem to me that labor statisticians would become watchful of the increase of imported steel and also the increase of other imported products made of steel such as automobiles. The steel market is now universal and only two factors influence the buyer—price and credit. The price of one's country's steel cannot be higher than that of another when it reaches the consumer or fabricator; the terms of credit must be as satisfactory. The competition among nations today is swift and is not without significant political overtones. Soviet Russia, for instance, not only sells steel at any political price irrespective of costs, but has presented entire steel mills as part of her foreign aid program. Soviet Russian statistics for foreign aid often include items which we would regard as trade. West Germany is in a position to give long term credits, often more generous than American companies are able or willing to give.

It is impossible to ignore the fact that the American cost of labor is a prevailing factor in the high price for American steel. There can be two views of this, both of which can be defended by reason:

1. That the American high cost of labor is reflected in the American standard of living which it is the right of free men to enjoy. It would be preferable to forego foreign markets than to lower steel prices to make them competitive, if by so doing, it is possible to maintain the American standard of life.

2. That we are now in an economic crisis due to inflation which may result in the loss of our foreign markets that will ultimately throw millions of Americans out of work and that that will produce unbearable social conditions in the United States which, if continued too long, could produce vast and unfortunate political and economic changes.

No matter how these two hypotheses are argued, it is clear from experience that inflationary conditions could lead to grave troubles in the United States. We note that Great Britain, West Germany, France and Italy have been, in varying degrees, restored to whole-some economic conditions with our aid, but that we are not so restored. In fact, we are losing gold.

This is clearly our basic problem although it is easy to find many pleasanter-to-discuss and easier-to-understand problems. Inflation is never pleasant to live through or talk about; it is like being dead and alive at the same time. In fact, during the first stages of inflation, folks feel better because they believe that they have more money. The second stage of an inflation is not so tough because one has more money but the quality of goods deteriorates. It is only when money does not buy things that the public becomes conscious of inflation. Then it is too late.

Note: The high standard of living in the United States may be measured by the consumption of high protein foods such as meats. Red meats, that is beef, veal, lamb, mutton and pork, will be consumed in 1959 at the per capita rate of 157.5 lbs. per year; chicken 29.4 lbs.; turkey 5.9 lbs. This represents a consumption of more than half a pound per person per day. The total poundage of cured, smoked and dried meats amounted in 1958 to 16,800,000 (billions) pounds and of canned meats 1,584,000,000 (billions) pounds.

Ancient Riddles, Or, Object-Watchers, Unite!

KYOTO

By Joseph Alsop

Object-watching is a happy and humane hobby, much less arduous and rather more rewarding than bird-watching. Bird-watchers, like opium-eaters, are always seeking new recruits. So this is a bugle call to object-watchers, from the object-watching paradise of the world.

A successful hobbyist's day will indicate the rules of the game. It started well at the Japanese inn. Being treated like a piece of valuable but fragile porcelain induces just the right mood for object-watching. And the day's work had hardly begun at the Kyoto Museum, before this day's first high score—something like the bird-watcher's prothonotary warbler.

Among many things that were marvelous and rare, there was a small, yet wonderfully vivid Chinese pottery statuette of a woman fondling a pekingese dog. She (you could not think of her as "it") had been made for burial with a Chinese grandee who must have died about 800 A. D. She wore that smile, at once inviting and self-confident, which only conscious, proven beauties wear; but she was fat, fat, fat!

Why then were fat women thought beautiful at this particular moment in the interminable history of China, and never before or since? There are those who say that this was because of the famous curves of Yang Kuei-fei, the "pearl concubine" who caused a throne to totter and to fall. But the lady with the pekingese slightly antedated Yang Kuei-fei. Only one answer remained. In China, at that time, there was a strong infusion of Steppe-Turkish blood in the ruling class. In Turkish eyes, ample breasts are notoriously admirable in females.

The riddle solved gave savor to the Japanese version of a quick lunch. Then, coffee at the Shamrock Coffee House, deserving to be considered as an object in itself.

The Irish name was a mere facade for the wildest late Victorian English interior, a somber riot of dark wood panelling, fringed lamps, and the curious sort of imitation plaster that looks as though it suffered from a pustule-causing disease. (It used to be called Lincrusta Walton, for reasons unknown.) But all this was only the background for decorative glass alternately etched with pseudo-Egyptian and bastard archaic Greek designs. And thronging over all was a German alabaster nude with a clock in its long suffering stomach—in its self enough to make any serious object-watcher's day.

At the Shamrock, in fact, there was nothing Japanese except a leoprous looking rock on a stand of honor (the Japanese cherish rocks) and two young ladies delicately sipping their breakfast coffee at 2 p. m. One was got up like an Oriental Brigitte Bardot. The other wore a charming traditional kimono, but her raven's wing hair had been dyed a bright, Westernizing auburn. "Whither Japan?" was the question posed but not answered by the Shamrock.

As for the rest of this happy day, most of it was spent examining the incomparable bronze collection of the great Sumitomo House. And here there was something to inspire the same emotions in an object-watcher that a bird-watcher would feel at his first glimpse of a cock-of-the-rock, or a quetzal, or a great auk come suddenly back to life.

It was a wine pot, made in China twelve or thirteen or fourteen hundred years before our Lord. Rare it certainly was:

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

COMMUNIST POLICY SPLIT—American intelligence sources and State Department Far East experts detect signs of a serious split in foreign policy between Russia and Red China.

Russia is in the midst of its most effective peace offensive in years and Red China is rocking the boat. The Chinese, on the other hand, are aggressively pushing for control over some of the little but lush countries in south-east Asia, and feel that Russian brakes on their designs are hampering them.

Russia holds the whip hand. She is supplying Red China with hard goods and military equipment to the tune of about $200 million a year. Red China can't get this material anywhere else and it is absolutely vital for her industrialization and military adventures.

A serious breach between the two most powerful Communist nations would ease tension elsewhere in the world in the immediate future, in the opinion of the State Department.

However, should Red China be denied access to Russian manufactured products, she might try to get them elsewhere in Asia, and might resort to active warfare.

'Big 3' Steel Companies Dominated Negotiations And Browbeat Kaiser

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The most revealing part of the backstage story of the steel strike negotiations is how big steel beat the brains of one smaller steel company, Kaiser Industries, to keep it from writing a separate contract with the United Steelworkers.

The Kaiser company had built a steel plant at Fontana, Calif., during the war when other steel executives claimed it was uneconomical to produce steel on the west coast. When the giant U. S. Steel Corporation refused to invest money in a western operation, Uncle Sam had to put the taxpayers' money into a steel plant at Geneva, Utah, which incidentally was sold to U. S. Steel afterward for only 30 cents on the dollar.

But the bulging population growth of California fully justified Henry J. Kaiser's foresight in risking a steel plant in Southern California, and this year during the strike negotiations, the Kaiser Company was admitted into the Big Twelve.

The Big Twelve has tried to keep a united front, though some of them, especially Kaiser, Jones and Laughlin of Pittsburgh, and Pittsburgh Steel, have not been too happy. One factor contributing to their unhappiness is the fact that only three steel companies—U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, and Republic—have handled the labor negotiations.

Furthermore, the actual talks with the union have been conducted by R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice president of U. S. Steel, who, some other executives suspect, is out to make a record for himself. The presidency of U. S. Steel has been open since Walter Munford died after slashing his abdomen with a kitchen knife on Cape Cod last month.

Unhappy with these negotiations, Edgar Kaiser, who has taken over command of Kaiser Industries from his father, Henry J., began talks some weeks ago with David MacDonald, head of the Steelworkers, and reached a contract agreement for a total package of 21 cents during the second year of the contract, plus a public board to prevent strikes in the future.

Private Waldorf Huddle

Edgar Kaiser had kept other steel executives informed of these separate talks and met with them on Sunday evening, October 11, in the Waldorf-Astoria suite of Arthur Homer, president of Bethlehem Steel, to report that he had reached complete agreement with the union.

Seldom have business executives put so much pressure on one man. Some of the most powerful figures in the business world, including Roger Blough, chairman of U. S. Steel, and Charley White, head of Republic, told Edgar bluntly what they thought of him. However, he stuck to his guns.

Calling Washington afterward, he learned that president McDonald of the Steelworkers wanted to meet him at 10:30 Monday morning. Kaiser immediately called Blough of U. S. Steel and told him of the proposed conference. Blough replied:

"I think you'd better meet with him. Maybe it will do some good."

Kaiser then called Homer of Bethlehem, and White of Republic. Each advised that he might do some good for the industry by talking to McDonald.

Kaiser met with McDonald at 10:30 Monday morning, then reported to Conrad Cooper at the Carlton Hotel. The big, balding U. S. Steel executive seemed quite unhappy. He told Kaiser there wasn't a chance of a settlement with labor. With Kaiser present, Cooper put through a phone call to Blough in New York to report deprecatingly on the McDonald-Kaiser talk. Edgar Kaiser then got on the phone and told Blough in a half-kidding voice: "Coop would just as soon see me dead."

Blough then asked to speak to Cooper and talked to him at some length. Cooper listened, made no reply. After he hung up he turned to Kaiser and said: "Edgar, I think you can be of real service in this matter."

Final Deadlock

For the next couple of days Cooper was much more cooperative. Finally on Thursday, October 15, it looked as if there might be a steel settlement. On that day Cooper had his first meeting with labor leaders over a cup of coffee. During the long months of negotiation beginning last May, not one cup of coffee had been drunk between them.

On Saturday, October 17, the Big Twelve executives met at the Waldorf in New York. Cooper reported unfavorably on the Kaiser agreement. It was rejected.

The steel executives then proceeded to lecture Edgar Kaiser for disrupting the solid front. "As long as McDonald thinks he can play you off against us," admonished Blough, "he won't sign with us. I told you last week to go ahead and talk to McDonald. I now feel that I made a mistake."

Kaiser orders a lot of steel from eastern companies for its Willys jeep plant in Toledo, has orders for nearly $200,000,000 worth of furnaces for installation of a new oxygen steel process in various mills, also supplies brick to a lot of steel companies. Its business is interwoven with that of big steel.

There were no threats by other executives to Edgar Kaiser, but he was made to feel very much out in the cold. However, at this writing it looks as if Kaiser would put his men back to work voluntarily, under a separate wage agreement, not under the Taft-Hartley injunction.

A Trustee Needed

By Leslie Gould

A scandalous situation developed in the $80 million Managed Funds Inc., a St. Louis-based open-end investment trust.

A SEC investigation found: Directors didn't direct. Stock buying and selling orders were channeled largely to one Stock Exchange member firm. Commissions paid to this firm were split with a relative of an officer of the investment trust and a former business associate of another officer, who had become employees of the firm.

An extremely high rate of turnover of the trust's investments. Securities in the trust's portfolio were sold to established profits and then rebought—sometimes in a matter of days—often at higher prices than for which they were sold.

The head of the trust and his brother controlled two companies distributing the trust's own shares to the public.

As a result of all this, the SEC stopped sale of the trust's shares, until there was a full disclosure of all facts relating to the operation.

The two brothers resigned as officers and directors of the trust along with some other board members.

The trust's contract for investment advisory services furnished by another company owned by the two brothers was terminated.

The Stock Exchange suspended for six months a partner in the member firm, who acted as an outside investment adviser to the investment trust, and censured and fined $5,000 each of four other partners. The firm in five years had collected $1,095,023 in commissions on purchases and sales of shares for the investment trust.

The two brothers followed their resignations from the Managed Funds Inc., with sale of the two companies they controlled that had been distributing the trust's own shares to the public.

A new board of directors for Managed Funds was proposed, including the two top officers of companies buying the two share distributing concerns. There also were two changes in the presidency of the trust, following the resignation of one of the brothers who had controlled the situation.

A third change in the presidency was made by the "board." This man is an associate of the new interests which had bought the two companies that had been distributing the trust's shares.

The "board" also engaged on a temporary basis as investment advisor another company controlled by the new interests that had taken over from the former heads of the investment trust.

A special meeting of the Managed Funds' shareholders was called to vote on a new board and on a new contract for managing the portfolio and for distribution of the investment trust's own shares.

The directors at a later meeting then rescinded all their previous actions, including the management and share selling contracts with the new interests. Also a substitute slate of directors was proposed.

After a November 4 special meeting of the shareholders, which will now only vote on the latest proposed directors' slate, the board is to receive any and all offers from other groups to manage the trust and distribute its shares to the public.

In the meantime, the new interests are providing investment advisory service to the trust and the man associated with them continues as president.

The situation is highly confusing. What should have been done—and it still isn't too late for the SEC to act—is for the courts to name a trustee to supervise the transition from the old crowd to some new group and see that there is real arms length bargaining.

Under the present confusion, the result can be that the two brothers involved in the SEC investigation will have sold what amounts to control of the trust along with their former distributing companies. This in effect is contrary to the original intent of the SEC-administered Investment Companies Act.

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

Western Europe enjoyed a perfect summer, it's officially announced from London. This refers to the weather and not, as you may think, to the vast numbers of free-spending U. S. tourists who visited there.

Nixon says Rep. Charles Halleck is "worthy of the Vice Presidency." Richard may not have actually announced for the Presidency but, on the other hand, observes F.E.F., a man who goes about recommending someone else for his job has SOME sort of fever.

Who says things don't look more cheerful? The ragweed pollen counting season has ended for most of the U. S.

Between now and 1970, estimates the Bridal Fashion Council, 25 million American couples will get married. Maybe the Wedding March may become more popular than the National Anthem.

President Lopez Mateos once walked 850 miles, Mexico to Guatemala, "for a lark." He sure works hard at having fun!

Don't kiss your pet parrot, says the Minnesota State Medical association, you might catch parrot fever. Or lose a nose?

Adolfo now puts in a 16-hour day on his job. That makes him not a nine-to-five but a five-to-nine man.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

There once was a very rich man who kept a padlock on his pocket-book. He blew his top, therefore, when his wife, without consulting him, bought the biggest fanciest most expensive automobile on the market.

Furthermore, the first time she drove him out in the new car, it stalled smack in the middle of the busiest intersection in town. Motorists on all sides began tooting their horns.

Hubby with the padlocked purse, fuming in the back seat, finally hollered to his wife up front, "All right, there's only one thing to do. Open the doors and let 'em through!"

Marilyn Monroe was the guest of honor at a sportswriters-

YAWNING WIFE
W. writes: What makes a young married woman yawn all the time?

REPLY
This is most likely to be a habit pattern that started originally from boredom. Some victims of diabetes, uremia, or acidosis yawn repeatedly.

HEARTBURN
S. L. writes: Is there any known cure for pyrosis?

REPLY
Yes, depending upon the cause. Pyrosis is a form of heartburn in which the individual regurgitates small amounts of acid from the stomach. Causes vary from nervousness to peptic ulcer.

STOMACH
C. M. writes: If tenderizers soften tough meat, what do they do to the stomach?

REPLY
Nothing. Gastric acid is strong enough to digest the toughest meats but never digests the stomach.

BLOOD DISORDER
W. P. writes: What is Christmas disease and why is it so called?

REPLY
This is a hereditary bleeding disorder similar to hemophilia. Christmas was the surname of the first family in which it was recognized.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

New Library Building Is Planned At PSC

Officials Study Sites, Proposals

KEYSER—Potomac State College is going to have a new library building.

President E. E. Church announced that the Board of Governors of West Virginia University, which is also the governing body for the local college, has given approval for the development of plans for construction and for the retention of Robert J. Bennett, Morgantown, as architect.

Site of the library will likely be in the northeast section of the campus, across the drive from the left front of the Administration building.

For some time college administration officials and the librarian have been looking forward to the day when the college could have a separate building for the library which has been located in the Administration building in quarters which have become increasingly crowded with the steady rise in enrollment.

Miss Mary F. Shipper, college librarian, together with the president and the dean, has been making a study of libraries recently constructed on other campuses to obtain factual information for use in Potomac State's plans. Visits have been made to Bluefield College, Frostburg State Teachers College and Davis and Elkins College, all of which have new library facilities. This week the observance group, together with the architect, have been viewing new libraries at the University of Maryland and Towson.

Upon completion of the new library building, the area now devoted to library space in the Administration building will be reconverted to classroom and administrative space.

Construction of the library will mark the third major addition to the campus since 1928 when the gymnasium was built.

The first building on the campus was an administration building constructed in 1902. This structure was destroyed by fire in May 1917 and the present Administration building replaced it on the identical site in 1919. Davis Hall was built in 1914; Reynolds Hall, 1925 and the gymnasium, 1928. More current structures are the following: Science Hall, 1951 and Memorial Hall (men's residence), 1957.

Faculty homes (one two-family duplex and one four-family apartment) were built in 1936. A dairy barn was constructed in 1940. Temporary buildings for veterans were acquired through Army surplus in 1946, and an Army surplus building for use as a Student Center was added in 1947.

Trio Admits Theft Charges At Keyser

KEYSER — Three young men pleaded guilty to theft charges in Mineral County Circuit Court here, and were remanded to jail pending sentencing next week by Judge Ernest A. See.

Garland Henry Cooper, 17; Calvin E. Hott, 23 and Vernon W. Wolfe, 20, all of the Potomac Heights section, are accused of stealing equipment from the workshop of Ray C. Coffman Sr., Keyser contractor. They were arrested in Winchester, Va.

Theresa L. Trenum, 20, pleaded guilty to a forgery charge and was returned to jail pending further court action.

Louis Raymond Sarfino, 17, and George Arthur Pyles, 16, both of Piedmont, were given a hearing on a felony charge involving theft. Sentences are pending. Trial dates were announced as follows: November 2—Dr. William A. Flick, narcotics violation; Paul Raymond Jackson, assault; Harry C. Henderson, Josephine E. Bosley and Thomas J. Gillen, misdemeanors; November 3—Forrest Burke and Clyde Richard McLucas, misdemeanors; November 3—Forrest Burke and Clyde Richard McLucas, misdemeanors; November 4—Benjamin Dante, George McMannis and Mary Catherine McMannis, misdemeanors; November 5—James Smith, felony.

Fagan To Represent Valley At Meeting Of Chemical Society

LONAONING—Mickey Eagan has been chosen by Valley High School Science department to attend the Western Maryland Section of the American Chemical Society dinner Thursday, November 19, at 7 p. m. in the dining room at State Teachers college, Frostburg.

Linus M. Heming, chairman of the section, is extending "to the top chemistry student for the term ending last June" the invitation to be guest at this dinner program.

Dr. F. O. Rice, Research Professor at Georgetown University, will speak on "The Chemistry of Jupiter" following the dinner. It will be a talk well suited to an audience composed of students and adults intensely interested in science.

Rotarians Sponsoring Pancake Day At Frostburg

FROSTBURG — The third annual Pancake Day sponsored by the Frostburg Rotary Club will be held in the Legion Home from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. Saturday, November 7. Proceeds will be given to the Frostburg Public Library building fund.

"Miss Pancake III" candidates must be sponsored by educational or civic organizations such as schools, women's groups, fraternal and service units.

Contestants are required to be 17 years or older and single, and the winner will be chosen by the votes of patrons. Contestants must contact Peter Lukas, chairman, at OV 9-8200 no later than October 28.

"Miss Pancake" will receive a $20 gift certificate. Second prize is a $10 certificate and third, $5. All other contestants will receive an eight by ten framed portrait. The queen and her escort will be guests of honor at dinner at Clarysville Inn.

OES Observes Charter Night

WESTERNPORT — Bethlehem Chapter No. 14, Order of Eastern Star honored their charter members at their regular meeting at the Odd Fellows Hall in observance of their fifty-seventh anniversary.

Three of their charter members were present, Miss Daisy Berisford and Mrs. Grace Smith, Westernport, and Mrs. Phoebe Newlon, Luke.

A birthday program was presented by the officers of the chapter around a large birthday cake. Mrs. Matilda Fisher, Piedmont, worthy matron, presided. Refreshments were served.

The members of the Keyser and Oakland chapters will be entertained at the next meeting, Friday, November 6.

Basic Fire-Fighting Class Scheduled At Frostburg

FROSTBURG — William Vogtman, assistant chief of the Frostburg Fire Department, announced that a 20-week course in basic fire fighting will begin Sunday at 7 p. m. in the fire hall.

Vogtman, instructor, recently completed an instructors' course given by the Fire Service Extension Department of the University of Maryland. Robert C. Byrns, of the Extension Service of the university, will attend the first meeting, Vogtman said.

The course will cover basic principals of firefighting and the use of equipment such as small hand tools, ladders, extinguishers, hose, nozzles, climbing ladders, salvage covers, ventilation and numerous other items.

Vogtman pointed out that an invitation has been extended to neighboring companies to have members present for the course.

Official Visit Made At Midland K Of P

MIDLAND—Otto Chessman Jr., Cambridge, Md., grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias Lodge of the Domain of Maryland, made an official visit to Anchor Lodge 111, Knights of Pythias, Midland.

James G. Blair, chancellor commander was presiding official. Other members of the official party included grand outer guard, Ira Willington, Lonaconing; district deputy grand chancellor, George Coddington, Oakland, and members of the grand lodge board of trustees, John Schramm, Lonaconing and Thomas H. Taylor, Midland. Past Grand Chancellors Julius Schindler, O. M. Brotemarkle, and J. Walter McKee of Cumberland and a delegation of members from Oakland, Lonaconing and Cumberland councils attended. Following the meeting, refreshments were served.

Halloween Party Planned At School

WESTERNPORT — The Halloween observance of the Westernport Elementary School will be held Friday, October 30, according to Miss Hazel Inskeep, principal.

Festivities will open with a parade on the school grounds at 1 p. m., followed by a program in the auditorium.

Miss Inskeep, Mrs. Florence Liller, Mrs. James Nichols, Mrs. Eugene Kiddy and Mrs. Paul Daddysman attended a fellowship dinner at Flintstone, sponsored by the County Council Parent-Teachers Association.

Roth Society Plans Banquet

KEYSER—Lt. Col. Curtiss W. Oakes, newly appointed Professor of Military Science and Tactics of Potomac State College will speak at the annual autumn banquet of the Roth Military Honor Society. This affair will occur in November.

The committee for the banquet includes Robert McBride, chairman; Lorenza Halterman and Randolph Pifer.

Zoning Board Is Proposed At Frostburg

FROSTBURG — The Mayor and Council voted this week to appoint a five-man board to consider a zoning ordinance. Action was taken after several months of consideration.

U. B. F. Edwards, member of the Frostburg Lions Club, asked council to refund part of the club's carnival license fee paid this summer. The request was granted and the city clerk was instructed to mail a check for $175 to the club.

Welsh Memorial Baptist Church was granted an insolvency of $6.25 on the last quarter's water bill.

Mrs. Kathleen Todd, owner of Eleanor Hall on Mechanic Street, asked council to consider changing the "no parking" regulation in front of her property, pointing out that a number of prospective tenants have refused to rent storerooms there because of parking regulations. Council took the matter under consideration.

Street Commissioner William Preston was granted permission to construct a drainage ditch at the West end of city after getting permission from property owners over whose land the ditch will traverse.

Bill for supplies, street lighting, power and expenses were presented by the city clerk and approved as follows: Corporate fund, $5,258.86 and water fund, $1,504.91.

The bill of the Hout Construction Company for installation of a new sewer in the Mt. Pleasant Street area was approved including extra work. Council also donated $100 to the County United Fund drive.

Building permits were approved for the following: Addition to Grants Market, 8 North Grant Street, issued to Paul Chabot, estimated cost $1,400; garage on Water Street for Nellie Powell, estimated cost $450; dwelling on Ormond Street, permit issued to Joseph A. Plummer, estimated cost $4,000 and foundation at 129 South Water Street, permit issued to Richard S. Jones, estimated cost $1,250.

African Quartet To Sing At Trinity

PIEDMONT—The Ambassador Quartet from Africa will present a "Before and After" program at Trinity Methodist Church Monday, November 2, at 7:30 p. m. At that time Trinity Methodist Church is acting as host for the Moorefield District missionary service.

The quartet will provide their own musical instruments and will be dressed in their native costume.

The quartet will explain "How They Became Christians" and "How They Live Today." The public is invited to attend this unusual program.

Ellerslie Class Plans Minstrel

ELLERSLIE — Light Bearers Sunday School Class met in the Methodist Church Hall Friday evening. Mrs. Ina McCloud was in charge of devotions. The group sang "Give Me Thy Heart." Mrs. McCloud offered prayer with the group repeating the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. McCloud gave a reading "Eating The Cook Book."

Mrs. Alma Connor was in charge of the business meeting. Final plans were made and committees appointed for the "Laff-alo Minstrel" to be held in the church hall November 6 at eight p. m. and refreshments will be sold.

Mrs. Erma Burkett announced that World Wide Quiet Day will be held in the church, October 27, and a program will be held Wednesday evening. Mrs. McCloud announced the youth meeting to be held in Frostburg and the class will send a basket to the Strawbridge and Kelso Homes in Baltimore.

Twelve members and one guest were present. Meeting was adjourned by the president reading a prayer. Refreshments were served by Mrs. McCloud and Mrs. Colleen Growden.

Mt. Savage Homemakers Plan Yuletide Activities

MT. SAVAGE—The Mt. Savage Homemakers Club met recently in St. George's Parish Hall with Mrs. Sara Carter, presiding. Mrs. DeNoma Yutzy led the devotional services and Mrs. Margaret Haus gave the history of the hymn of the month, "In Christ There is No East or West." Mrs. Doris Crowe served as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Hazel Swauger. A report on the book of the month was given by Mrs. Yutzy. A book was also donated to the Cumberland Public Library in memory of Mrs. Maude Bean.

The club voted to place an ad in "Arrow Head" yearbook of Mt. Savage High School. Homemakers will make Christmas trees out of metallic ribbon and place them for sale.

Birthday greetings were sung to Mrs. Thomas Adams and Mrs. Grace Beal and the attendance prize was won by Mrs. Nellie Hook.

The next meeting will be held November 19 at 7:30 p. m. in St. George's Parish Hall. Plans for the annual Christmas dinner will be made.

Study Group Lists Topics

FROSTBURG — The Parent-Child Study Group of Beall Elementary and Junior High School met in the school cafeteria with Mrs. Jeanetta McFarland in charge. This was the third of six meetings planned for the year.

A play, "Fresh, Variable Winds," by Nora Sterling was given. The play portrayed parental perplexities and school age children.

The Parent-Child Study groups were organized three years ago by the pupil personnel department of the Board of Education of which Homer Higgins is supervisor.

Leaders for these groups were trained by Dr. John Kurtz, Dr. Fred Thompson, and Jake Goering, all of the University of Maryland. During the course of instructions, techniques were taught and structured programs were given.

The structural program is divided into five areas: the physical, the affectional, peer relationship, the cultural area, and the self adjustment area.

The first year the groups throughout the county discussed the peer area and last year and this year the affectional area.

The next meeting will pertain to Social Hygiene. It will be designed to help parents discuss sex education with their children. A film will be used as a teaching device followed by group discussion.

Victory Legion Will Sponsor Mummies March

WESTERNPORT — A mummies parade Thursday, October 29, at 7:30 p. m. will highlight the annual Halloween celebration sponsored by Victory Post 155, American Legion Auxiliary.

The line of march will form at the upper end of Main Street, proceed to Piedmont Street and return here. It will be led by the Blue Angel Drum Corps and prizes will be presented to the best masked children.

There will also be prizes for the best masked adults at a dance in the Legion Home, beginning at 9 p. m. Music will be provided by Les Clifford's orchestra.

Sodality Plans Halloween Party

MT. SAVAGE—The Sodality of St. Patrick's met recently in the school with Mrs. Dorothy Barth, president, presiding. After the regular routine of business was completed Mrs. Margaret Campbell gave a brief talk on Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States.

Prizes for the month were awarded to Mrs. Martha Williams, Miss Betty Malloy, Mrs. Marie Mullaney and Robert Naughton. Plans were made for the annual Halloween party to be held for the school children.

The next meeting will be held November 5 at 7:30 p. m. at the school.

Hospitalized

WESTERNPORT — William Watkinson, of 433 Vine Street, was admitted to Miners Hospital, Frostburg, for observation.

JOHN ALLEN

Beall Junior High Elects School Patrol Officers

FROSTBURG—The school patrol of Beall Elementary and Junior High School met with their advisor, Miss Mary Hanson, recently to elect officers and to make plans for the year.

John Allen, grade seven, was elected captain, with Tamara Kerr and Joseph McGreevy as lieutenants. Other members of the patrol are:

Frostburg — John Bone, John Cutter, Gene Hager, Geneva Hunter, Jill Jenkins, Susan Loar, Rose Wade, Gregory Harper, and Charles Meehan.

Bus — Jean Crowe, Dale Cutter, Leslie Cutter, Wayne Crowe, Beverly Hopkins, Linda Jeffries, Norma Layman, John Mills, Kay Blubaugh, Jerry Ralston, Bill Reed, Janice Shriver, Carolyn Shriver, Patricia Snyder, Matthew Skidmore, Grey Taylor, Joelinda Thomas, Ronald Ware, and Darryl Wampler.

In order that maximum safety be afforded students boarding or leaving a school bus, or at a street intersection, or on the open highway, the following safety points were stressed by the group:

At street intersections and at street crossings within any town, the patrolman is to watch approaching traffic, and hold pupils on the sidewalk until it is safe for crossing.

Under no circumstances is any patrolman to go into the street and attempt to halt traffic by holding up his hands. The patrol boy is not a traffic policeman.

It was further discussed that when a school bus stops to take on or discharge passengers, while the bus is standing still, the patrol boy shall accompany children in front of the bus, look in both directions and have children cross the road in front of the bus.

Cub Pack 26 Takes Hike

LONAONING — Cub Scouts, Pack No. 26, went hiking Sunday afternoon from Seldom Seen Road, Detmold, over Detmold Mountain, stopping at Shaffer's to see their cattle and pigs; and at the Colmer farm, where they saw an old log home, horses, cows, chickens, a spring house dated back to 1816, and a well that dates back to 1814.

The group included 18 boys and six adults.

Plans were made to hold a Halloween party on Monday, October 26 at 7:30 p. m. at First Presbyterian Church Education Building with everyone attending in costumes. Refreshments, cider and doughnuts, games and prizes for costumes will be planned.

Veteran Textile Workers Attend Anniversary

A And C Shifts Mark 25th Year

LONAONING — "A and C Shift" of Celanese Corporation of America celebrated their twenty-fifth anniversary at a fall ham and chicken banquet at the VFW home.

Master of ceremonies was Alphonus Byrnes, who also gave the invocation. Mrs. Gerald Clayton gave a "Welcome" address. A vocal solo by Mrs. Faye Turnbull with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Betty Dawson, was presented.

Talks were given by Robert Williams, Alphonus Byrnes, Harry Warnick, Elmer Rupp, Paul Sacks, Joseph Nolan and Walter Johnson.

Miss Sue Myers, the member present with the most seniority, (with 32 years record), gave a brief talk.

A pay envelope dated January 31, 1930, of Lonaconing's old silk mill, 118 hours at 41c an hour, saved by an employee because it was one of the biggest pays in the mill at that time, was displayed.

Mrs. Faye Turnbull led the group in the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and other group songs. New members present were Mrs. Goldie Barnhardt, Mrs. Lee Patterson, Miss Jennie Nine, Mrs. Leona Brode, and George Mazer.

There were 97 at the anniversary dinner. A fall flower centerpiece was taken to Fred Stoudt, who is ill at his home on East Main Street.

Potomac State Students Elect Homecoming Queen

Former "Miss Fairgo" Among Candidates

KEYSER—Miss Catamount XXI was selected yesterday in campus wide election sponsored by Theta Sigma Chi Fraternity, which began the tradition in 1939. This year's candidates are Anne Drane, Lois Lambert and Kitty Sindy. Announcement of the winner will be made today.

Frostburg Sets Shopping Hours For Holidays

FROSTBURG—Christmas shopping hours for local stores were announced following a recent meeting of the Frostburg business Association in City Hall.

All stores will remain open until 9 p. m. November 27, the Friday following Thanksgiving. Santa Claus will make his annual visit to the business area to pass out candy to the children following the Yule street lighting ceremonies. Stores will also be open Saturday, November 28.

Store hours for December are: 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., Fridays and Saturdays, December 4-5 and December 11-12; week days, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Beginning December 14, stores will remain open until 9 p. m., except Christmas Eve when they will close at 5 p. m.

Officials Plan Halloween Celebration

FROSTBURG — The annual Halloween parade sponsored by the Frostburg Fire Department and City Council will be held Thursday, October 29, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

According to Joseph Durst, James McMorran, and Adolph Via, members of the fire department, the parade will organize on Ormond Street off Water Street. The route will be Water to Main Streets and Main to Bowery where the parade will disband. The parade is for all mummies, groups or organizations.

In the line of march will be the Frostburg State Teachers College band, Arion Band and Beall High junior and senior bands. All participants will be given gifts.

ENGINEERS TOP

MONTGOMERY, W. Va. (UPI) — Scientific and technical fields have the largest percentage of students enrolled at West Virginia Tech this semester. The top enrollment is in the engineering department.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Over the week end that fine actor Alec Guinness arrived in New York to do a TV show on November 11th. Before Guinness left England he signed a deal with Mike Frankovich, vice president of Columbia, to make four motion pictures for Columbia.

It's now definitely established the first of these will be "Roar Like a Dove," co-starring Doris Day. I mentioned sometime ago that Marty Melcher had bought "Roar Like a Dove" for Doris and that Richard Quine would direct.

The other three pictures have not yet been determined, but Guinness and Columbia see eye to eye since "Bridge over the River Kwai" carried away most of the Oscars.

The very controversial novel by James Gould Cozzens, "By Love Possessed," which was on the best seller list so long, has been licked script-wise by Ketti Frings. The Mirisch Brothers who bought the film rights have sent it to James Stewart, hoping he will go for it.

The central character is a brainy New Englander caught between conventionality and passion, and Jimmy who has gone to Europe, will read it, and report when he returns. The Mirisches would like Lana Turner to play the disturbing light of love, and Lana is listening.

Nedda and Josh Logan were in New York exactly a week when they were called back here so

Town Council Designates One Night To Trick, Treat

PIEDMONT — Saturday, October 31, was designated as "Trick or Treat Night," by Mayor Rodney Baker and Council yesterday.

By having one night only, it abandons a nuisance by the youngsters calling on the homes several nights before Halloween, Baker said. Last year, parents as well as children cooperated with the town's plans.

Councilmen Kingsley Skidmore announced that Victor Keller, Chestnut Street Extended, West-ernport, has offered the town a Christmas tree free of cost. Keller is also offering another tree to Westernport.

Joseph E. Maybury, chairman of the finance committee, revealed that the town will have over $1,100 in the swimming pool account after all outstanding bills are paid.

Mayor Baker called attention

Education Week Observance Set At Valley High

Parents' Afternoon Will Be Highlight

LONACONING—American Education Week will be observed November 8 to 14 at Valley High School in a different manner of program this year than ever before.

By inaugurating the practice of setting aside one afternoon when parents may visit the school to consult with teachers, Valley High School has scheduled a Parents' Afternoon for Monday, November 9.

Paul Dwight Beale, principal, will be sending a letter to every parent and guardian of Valley High School students to invite them to visit teachers with whom their son or daughter has classes.

Parents will be asked to complete a brief form indicating the choices of teachers with whom they would like to meet and the time of the afternoon most convenient. Parents' conferences time will be confirmed with a return note from the school.

Principal Beale states, "We feel that Parents' Afternoon will provide to interested parents the benefit of a private consultation with the teachers of your child. We urge you to take advantage of this opportunity to meet and talk with the teachers."

The form is to be completed and returned to Valley High School by November 4, for the program planned for parents on November 9.

Mt. Savage Personals

James A. Deffenbaugh, USS Accula, has returned to his ship after spending several days visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. George Deffenbaugh.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Green and daughters are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harry Green and Mrs. John Gallagher.

Miss Mary Murray, state vice regent of the Catholic Daughters of America and Mrs. Adelaide Logsdon, grand regent of Court Theresa returned after attending the fall conference of the CDA at the Cadoa in Baltimore.

West Virginians Pay $112 Each In Tax

CHARLESTON (AP)—A U. S. Bureau of Census report showed that total tax collections in West Virginia by all local governmental units and the State amounted to $112.18 per person in 1957.

The West Virginia per person figure compared with a national average of $169.22 per capita. The information was contained in a final report from the 1957 census of governments.

West Virginia ranked 44th among the 49 areas covered in per capita amount of state and local taxes in 1957. The range was from California's $238.57 to $100.33 in Arkansas.

CHEERLEADER CLINIC

Alabama's high school cheerleaders are learning that yelling is an art. They go to college to perfect their gyrations.

The two-day clinic for high school cheerleaders was started at the University of Alabama six years ago. About 250 attended the first clinic. This year, more than 1,600 attended.

The clinic was sponsored by the Alabama High School Athletic Assn. Cliff Harper, director of the association, says the purpose is to show the youngsters the art of crowd control, with a positive approach to cheering. The university's cheerleaders, as well as some of the outstanding cheerleaders from other parts of the country, do the instructing.

The youngsters pay a $2 registration fee and $1.25 a night for housing, which is provided by the university. Meals cost extra.

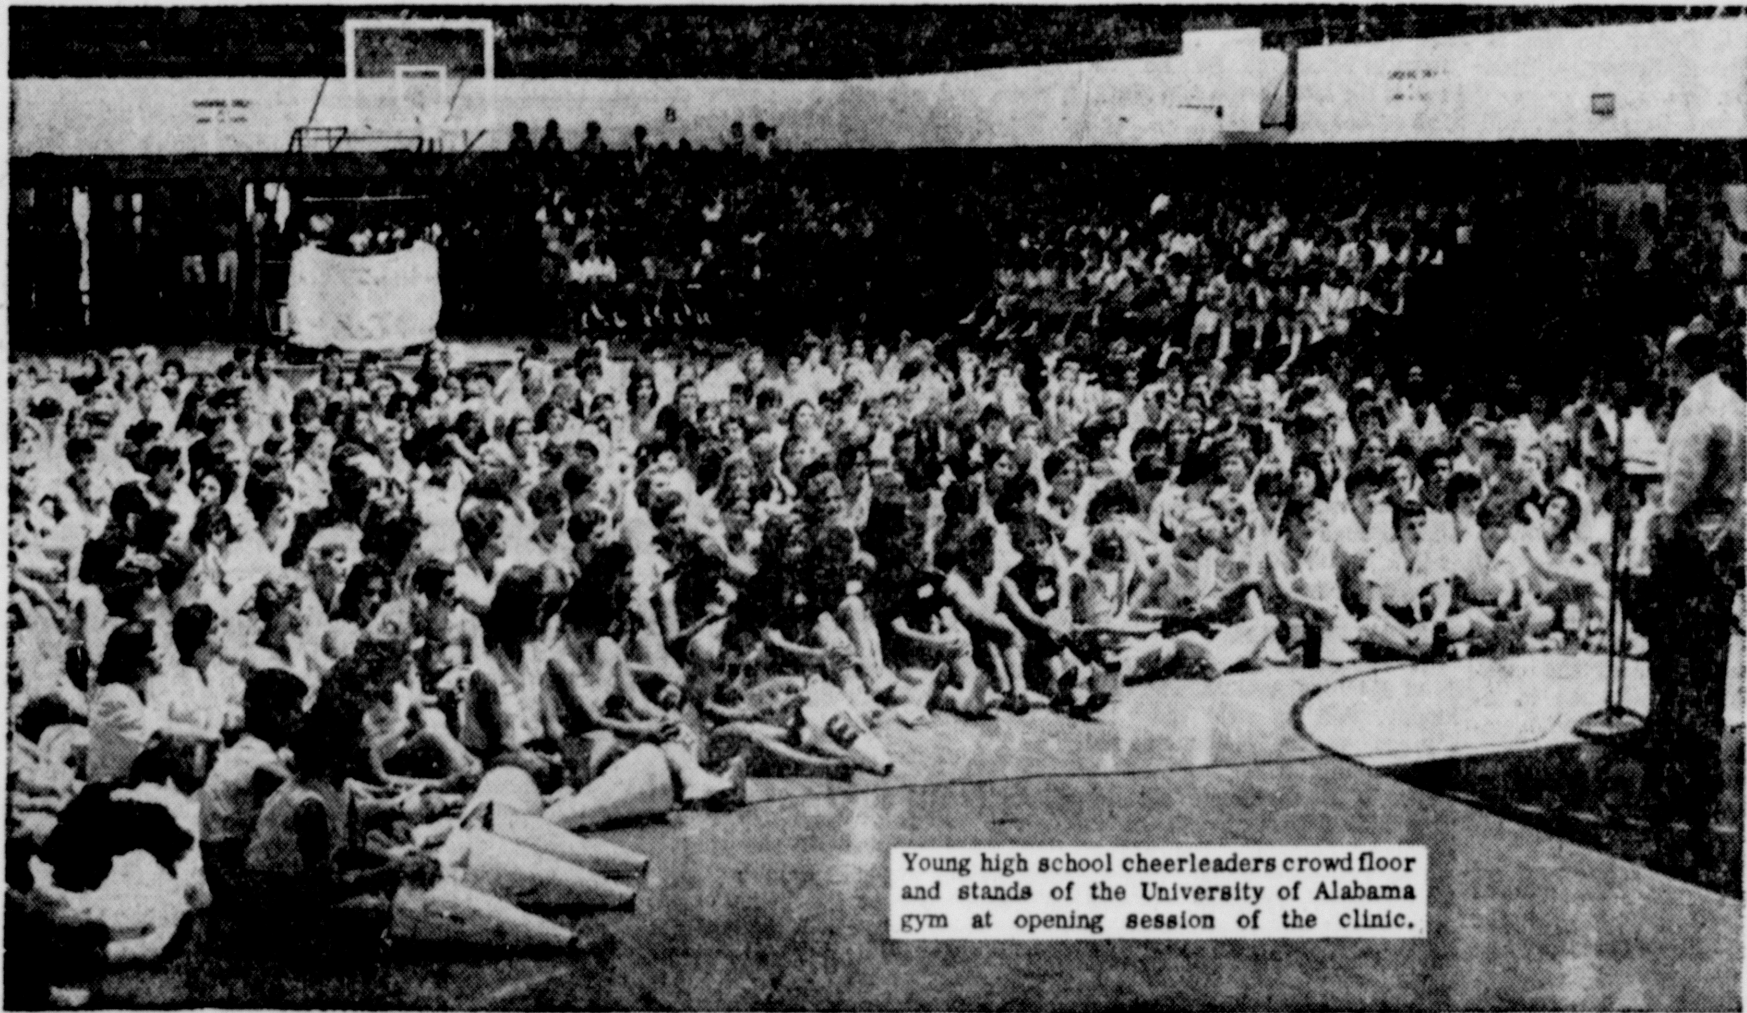

The young cheerleaders are shown being prepped for the new grid season.

HERE'S HOW. . . With a gay leap, Tommy Owens, a Tulsa, Okla., cheerleader, shows a group of Northport, Ala., high school gals how it's done at the cheerleader clinic.

"C'MON TEAM!" Flying through the air, Brenda Parrett shows perfect cheerleading form.

Young high school cheerleaders crowd floor and stands of the University of Alabama gym at opening session of the clinic.

University of Alabama's head cheerleader Perry West has attentive audience in girls from Holt High as he instructs them in art of cheerleading.

Pair of Alabama U. cheerleaders team up with gals from Cullman, Ala., High. Foursome are Perry West, George Perkins, Donna Shaw, and Carol Goodlett.

Revealing true acrobatic skill, Jewell Peek and Carolyn Gooden are held high by Nancy Jacobs, Jo Anna Tubbs and Bettie Homan.

Practice over, Frances Spain, smallest cheerleader at clinic at four feet, eight inches, takes off shoes to rest.

Frostburg State Booters Battle Grove City To 3-3 Tie

Three Game Win Streak Is Snapped

Teams Play Pair Of Five-Minute Overtime Periods

Frostburg State Teachers soccer eleven had its three-game winning streak snapped yesterday when the Bobcats battled the Grove City Teachers to a 3-3 overtime deadlock in the Pennsylvania City.

Coach Kenneth Babcock's Frostburgers now have won four games, lost one and tied one game. The Bobcats had defeated Salisbury, 1-0, Mt. St. Mary's, 2-1, and Penn State Frosh, 4-1, to compile their three-game skien. The visiting Marylanders took a 2-0 lead early in the second period after Jim Kelly booted home the first goal on an assist from Norm Nightengale with 17 minutes played in the first quarter and Butch Young kicked in the second goal with six minutes played in the second period with an assist from Al George.

Grove City's Buttner collected the Pennsylvania's initial goal when he booted a high wind-blown shot over the Frostburg goalie's head in the second period. About six minutes later Florentini kicked in a goal from a scramble in front of the Frostburg goal posts.

Frostburg again took the lead on Roy Sigler's goal with about 19 minutes gone in the third stanza. This 3-2 lead stood up until midway in the final quarter when Sossman connected for Grove City from another scramble in front of the Frostburg goal.

The two teams then played a pair of five-minute overtime periods but neither was able to break the deadlock.

Frostburg had 32 shots at the Grove City goal with the Pennsylvania goalie making 19 saves. Grove City took 13 shots and Lupis made 11 saves for the Bobcats. Frostburg also had 14 corner kicks to the home team's seven.

Saturday at 2:30 p. m. Frostburg will host American University's soccer team in the Bobcats' annual Homecoming Day event. The lineups:

Bill Casper, 1959 U. S. Open champion, exemplifies the advantages of holding a good attitude about golf.

BILL CASPER, winner of the 1959 U. S. Open, was credited with being the most relaxed player in the tournament. The credit might have added that Bill never has been accused of choking in any competition. This doesn't mean that he always shows a perfect temperament. Like all tournament players, the new champion can get annoyed over trying conditions, but he doesn't allow the annoyance to dominate his feelings or performances.

He refuses to fight playing conditions, competitors or himself because he firmly believes that a positive attitude is both necessary and advantageous. He has found that such an attitude enables him to perform with at least 90 per cent of his maximum efficiency and to take full advantage of all favorable breaks. When his attitude and golf drop below par he sets aside his clubs and goes fishing. Thus he gets back on the positive side.

Ohio Harness Race Probe Turns Up No Violations

Charges Are Denied By Two 'Informants'

COLUMBUS (UPI)—An Ohio Racing Commission investigation of alleged harness racing irregularities at Hamilton and Lebanon tracks has failed so far to uncover any evidence of violations. Asst. Atty. Gen. John Hoskins said Wednesday.

But Hoskins said he and William Cull, chief racing inspector, would attempt to get more information on the charges made against the tracks by Marvin Kline, an assistant attorney general assigned to the Agriculture Department.

Hoskins said he and Cull contacted two stockholders from whom Kline asserted he extracted the background for his charges involving the Hamilton and Lebanon tracks. But, Hoskins said, "We have found no evidence in violation of the horse race act."

Hoskins declined to disclose the nature of the investigation at this time "because I am afraid we would damage the investigation."

The commission entered the investigation after Kline submitted his "confidential" charges orally to the commission at a public hearing in Toledo.

Agriculture Director Robert Terhune supported Kline at the meeting but later said he had not inquired but later said he had not inquired but later said he had not inquired.

Stoneham also said that speculation over the managerial question had been "blown up out of all proportion."

"I figured that when we did have an announcement, we would just do it over the phone instead of calling a press conference," Stoneham declared earlier on Wednesday. "Of course, if some reporters wanted to come over for a while that would be okay. But all this speculation about next year's manager has been blown up out of all proportion."

Rigney came under some criticism last month after the Giants blew a two-game lead they held as late as Sept. 17 and finished up third. Some fans complained that he did not handle his pitching staff properly. In other quarters he was praised for making a front-runner out of a ball club that was often erratic.

NEW YORK (AP)—Louis Feustel, the man who trained Man O' War, returned Wednesday to Aqueduct Race Course—scene of Big Red's most famous race, 39 years ago.

Feustel, 75, now a resident of Pasadena, Calif., is here for the inaugural running Saturday of the $100,000 added 1 1/2-mile Man O' War Stakes on Aqueduct's grass course. This is the first stakes race named for Man O' War. It was July 10, 1920, that Man O' War beat John P. Grier in their famous match race—the Dwyer Stakes. That was at the old Aqueduct.

Feustel, who advised the late Samuel D. Riddle of Pennsylvania to buy Man O' War for $5,000, broke the fiery champion and saddled him for all of his races. Big Red won 20 of his 21 races in 1919 and 1920 before Riddle retired him to the stud. America's most talked about race horse died Nov. 1, 1947, at the age of 30.

Lyons Looking For New Position

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The former general manager of the Charleston Senators' American Assn. baseball team was job hunting Wednesday.

Hillman Lyons has been dropped by the Detroit Tigers effective Nov. 1. The Tigers announced last month that they were dropping the Charleston franchise.

Lyons said he had no definite plans for the future but had received "several" job offers. He may join the Milwaukee Braves organization which is now headed by John McHale, former Detroit general manager.

Burrell Is Named Lineman Of Week

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Bill Burrell, the University of Illinois' rip-roaring guard named the Associated Press Lineman of the Week, said Wednesday he definitely is interested in pro football.

"I know, at 207 pounds I'm pretty small as pro linebackers go," said Burrell, Negro captain of the Illini. "But I've been as high as 215 pounds and I think I would go over 220 as a pro."

Burrell, labeled a sure-fire All-America by rival coaches and scouts, literally took Minnesota apart Saturday as he exploded into the Gophers to make 16 tackles, recover a fumble and steal a pass in a 14-6 Illini triumph.

tended for the charges to be published.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said the charges were founded on hearsay. He telephoned Kline's alleged informants and each denied giving Kline any information. They also called his charges "fantastic and utterly unbelievable."

Kline later, at his own request, was granted a 60-day leave of absence without pay from his job.

Giants Plan To Keep Rigney As Manager

Press Conference Is Scheduled Today

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants Wednesday scheduled a "very important" press conference for Thursday afternoon at which they are expected to announce Bill Rigney's retention as manager for another season.

The get-together is slated for a plush downtown hotel although club President Horace Stoneham said Wednesday morning that any announcement about next season's pilot might have been made over the phone.

Stoneham also said that speculation over the managerial question had been "blown up out of all proportion."

"I figured that when we did have an announcement, we would just do it over the phone instead of calling a press conference," Stoneham declared earlier on Wednesday. "Of course, if some reporters wanted to come over for a while that would be okay. But all this speculation about next year's manager has been blown up out of all proportion."

Rigney came under some criticism last month after the Giants blew a two-game lead they held as late as Sept. 17 and finished up third. Some fans complained that he did not handle his pitching staff properly. In other quarters he was praised for making a front-runner out of a ball club that was often erratic.

Puerto Rican Head Is Told Pacts Binding

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford C. Frick said Wednesday night he had notified the president of the Puerto Rican League that all major league players now playing in the winter league there would be withdrawn unless agreed upon terms were fulfilled.

"The contract was approved at a meeting of representatives of the Cuban, Dominican Republic, Venezuelan, Panama and Puerto Rican leagues," Frick said.

"Later I received a request from the president of the Puerto Rican League that his name be withdrawn. He said he wanted some changes made in the contract."

"The specific change he mentioned would destroy all the commissioner's jurisdiction over native players, and I could not have Puerto Rico operating under rules any different from the other winter league countries."

FOREIGN MONOPOLY

NEW YORK (UPI)—The world record for 1,500 meters, the so-called "metric mile," has not been held by an American since Bill Bonthron of Princeton was champion from 1934 to 1936 with a mark of 3:48.8, more than 12 seconds slower than the current mark set by Herb Elliott of Australia.

LONDON (UPI)—"Skiing" is an abbreviation of a Finn-Ugrian word "Suski" meaning "snow-glide-shoe" and is believed to have existed for almost 45 centuries.

RACE QUEEN — Janet Hill, Miss West Virginia of 1960, will preside at West Virginia Night ceremonies at Shenandoah Downs on Saturday, presenting a silver tray to the owner of the horse winning the West Virginia Purse. Treadway Takes Passing Lead

Tops Big Ten In Offense

CHICAGO (UPI)—Olen Treadway's record breaking pass performance for Iowa against Wisconsin Saturday moved him into first place in both passing and total offense in the Big Ten, statistics showed Wednesday.

Treadway completed 26 passes for 304 yards, a record number of completions, and attempted a record number, 41. His total passing gains are 504 yards and his total offense gains 487.

Sanford Stephens of Minnesota, with 149 yards passing and 108 rushing was second in total offense with 257 yards. Northwestern's John Talley with 239 yards was second in passing.

Bob Jeter of Iowa led in rushing with 255 yards with Northwestern ball carriers taking the next three spots. Ray Purdin with 169, Mike Stock with 153 and Mark Johnston with 148.

Iowa's Don Norton was first in pass receptions with 18 for 235 yards and in scoring with 26 points. Purdin led in punt returns. Ray Jauch of Iowa in kickoff returns, Darrell Harper of Michigan in punting, and Marshall Starks of Illinois in pass interceptions.

Folley-Machen Rematch Sought

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Matchmaker Bennie Ford said Wednesday that he has offered Zora Folley a $15,000 guarantee to box Eddie Machen again within 90 days at the Cow Palace.

The two heavyweights struggled to a dull, 12-round draw there in April of 1958.

"I'll guarantee Folley $15,000 or 30 per cent of the net," said Ford who now makes matches for the San Francisco Boxing Club. "Machen wants to prove to San Francisco fans that he can beat Folley. And there is a lot of feeling between the two men."

Fans loudly booed the previous decision and a majority of papers awarded the verdict to Folley, who boxes out of Phoenix.

Ollie Matson Is Proving Good Deal For LA Rams

Sets New Team Mark In Rushing

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The critics who whispered the Los Angeles Rams made a bad deal when they traded eight men and a draft choice to the Chicago Cardinals for Ollie Matson have been unusually silent the past few weeks.

Big Ollie proved to most observers in the games with the Chicago Bears and the Green Bay Packers that he was worth the big price in talent the Rams paid for him.

Against the Bears in Chicago, where George Halas' mighty Monsters of the Midway are their roughest, Matson carried the ball 31 times for a new Ram high and his total yardage of 199 was the third highest in Ram history for a single game. The 28-21 win was the first of the regular season for the Rams after two losses.

In the Green Bay game Sunday Matson picked up where he had left off against the Bears as he again was the workhorse of the club.

He carried the ball 20 times for 121 yards, received three passes and broke away for 49 yards to a touchdown that smashed the Packers' backs. The Rams came away with a 45-6 win over the previously undefeated club.

Matson was disturbed after the first two losing games against the New York Giants and San Francisco Forty Niners because he felt he was not contributing enough. He asked Coach Sid Gillman if he could do more even though he averaged six yards a carry but was given the ball only 15 times in the two games. Gillman explained the Rams got behind early and had to go to a predominately passing game in an effort to catch up. But when the Rams got an early start in the next two games, Matson got the work he wanted.

Washington College's undefeated soccer team nipped Mount St. Marys 2-1 Wednesday in a Mason-Dixon Conference game.

The Shoremen started fast on first-quarter goals by center half-back Mort Lenane and outside left Dick Skinner. Right fullback Ed Jacobs led a strong defense which blanked the Mounts until the final period when forward Pete Kuhn broke the ice.

Mounts' goalie, Jack Gunn, made 25 saves to keep the game tight.

Washington College has won five games while tying one and is 1-0-1 in the conference. Mount St. Marys is 3-4 overall and 3-3 in the conference.

Lamar Tech Tops Ratings

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Lamar Tech of Beaumont, Tex., with a 6-0 record, tightened its hold on No. 1 position in this week's poll of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics rating board. Lamar was given a command 274-point total, far ahead of runner-up Lenoir Rhyne, Hickory, N. C., with 195, and Presbyterian of Clinton, S. C., with 191.

Max Baughan, Georgia Tech center, made 17 tackles in his team's 14-12 victory over Kentucky.

Sport Writers Pick Wynn As Top Comeback

Sox Hurler Edges Tito Francona

NEW YORK (AP)—Early Wynn rebounded from two poor seasons and won the most games in the major leagues in 1959. He helped push the Chicago White Sox to their first American League pennant in 40 years.

For starting line anew at the advanced pitching age of 39, Wynn Wednesday was named the American League comeback player of the year in the annual Associated Press poll.

Wynn edged outfielder-first baseman Tito Francona of Cleveland. Pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm of Baltimore was a distant third.

Wynn received 61 votes among the 168 cast by members of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America. Francona drew 52. Wilhelm had 21 and Gene Woodling of the Orioles 10.

Wynn, a 22-game winner the past season, was an important figure in Chicago's pennant drive. He beat second place Cleveland six times, thrice in the final month. His over-all performance was a major improvement over 1957 and 1958 when he managed only 14 victories each season.

Wynn's last good year was 1956, when he had a 20-9 record for Cleveland. After a 14-17 mark with the Indians in 1957, he was traded to Chicago with Al Smith for Minnie Minoso and Fred Hatfield.

The White Sox' right-hander pitched 255 2-3 innings this season and wound up with a 3.13 earned run average. His ERA in 1958 was 4.13.

Francona batted .363 in '59 after gaining a position in the Indians' regular lineup on June 1. He did not, however, qualify for batting title, finishing with fewer than the necessary 477 total appearances. Francona was one of the big surprises of the campaign, hitting 20 homers and driving in 79 runs.

Wilhelm won 15 games for Baltimore. He led the majors in earned run average with 2.19.

Arnels Gain, Win Over Acetates 2-1

The Arnels gained on the top-running Acetates in the Celanese Staff Bowling League by turning back the league-leaders, 2-1, in a match rolled last night in the Capitol Bowling Alleys.

In another league match the Celaners shoved the Fortians into the cellar with a 2-1 triumph over the last-place team.

Delores Frazee paced the Arnels with a 371 set while teammate Jud Collins had 341. Byron Bonebreak spilled 402 pins for the Acetates, followed by Grace Lashley with 329.

Other high scorers were Millie Twigg, 372, and Alvin Serf with 355 for the Fortians; Pat Padelford, 379, and Marguerite Mulan with 339 for the Celaners. The standings:

Wynn Receives Hickok Award

NEW YORK (UPI)—Early Wynn, who helped pitch the Chicago White Sox to their first pennant in 40 years, Wednesday was named winner of the Hickok Memorial Athlete of the Year award.

The 39-year-old Wynn received 35 first-place votes and a total of 136 points to beat out World Series star Larry Sherry of the Los Angeles Dodgers in the monthly balloting by the writers and radio-TV broadcasters who participated in the poll. Sherry had 13 first-place votes and 73 points.

Captains Named For Mountaineers

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Mountaineers will be captained by a Virginian and Pennsylvanian in Saturday's game at Syracuse.

Coach Art Lewis said Wednesday halfback Ray Peterson, Falls Church, Va., and center Joe Wirth, Etna, Pa., would co-captain West Virginia in its scrap with the Orange.

Giants Lead NFL Elevens In Total Offense, Passes

Brown Is Tops In Rushing

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The New York Giants have a simple explanation to why they're leading the National Football League Eastern Division. They're first in total offense and passing, and their solid-boned line has the league's best defense against rushing.

The Giants, defending their conference championship, totaled 1,422 yards in the first four games of the season, gaining 515 rushing and 907 by passing to hold an 11-yard edge over the Los Angeles Rams.

The Chicago Cardinals, a three-time loser to date, dropped from first to third place with 1,360 yards while Baltimore was fourth with 1,335 and San Francisco fifth with 1,230.

San Francisco was the ground power with a net gain of 823 yards as the ball carriers averaged 5.2 yards in 158 rushes. They were followed by the Rams (714), Green Bay (691), Washington (640) and Cleveland (607).

Cleveland fullback Jimmy Brown paced the individual ball carriers with 437 yards. He held a 27-yard lead on J.D. Smith of the Forty Niners, with Ollie Matson of Los Angeles third with 401. Johnny Unitas makes it look easy for Baltimore, but the team passing lead was held by New York with 907 yards in the air line, followed by the Colts with 858 yards and the Cardinals third with 807. The Chicago Bears (766) and the Philadelphia Eagles (748) were fourth and fifth. Unitas, who has passed for 941 yards—under league rules yards lost by passing are charged to the team and not the passer—had 10 touchdowns, but did not better than fourth in the individual passing. Ralph Guglielmi of Washington, with 21 completions in 45 attempts for 439 yards and one touchdown, held first place among the tossers in standings based on yards gained for each pass thrown.

The bruising defensive line of the Giants has given up only 407 yards in 129 carries by opposing ball toters, an average of 3.2 yards per carry. The Pittsburgh Steelers posted a 3.7 mark and the Bears 3.8.

Surprising Green Bay and Cleveland stack up the best defensive records in total yardage. The Packers allowed 1,059 yards and the Browns 1,066. Cleveland was the stingiest point-wise, giving up only 41 while second place San Francisco gave up 48.

Bartek Grabs Offense Lead In Conference

Meegan Loses Edge In WVIAC Scoring

BECKLEY, W. Va. (UPI)—Wholesale changes were noted Wednesday in individual statistics in the West Virginia Conference.

Bernie Bartek of Wesleyan took over first place in passing and total offense from Bill Connors of Salem with a brilliant passing display last weekend against Glenville.

The Bobcat star now has amassed 443 yards rushing and passing with 467 of those yards coming on passes.

Salem's Jack Meegan managed to hold his rushing lead but lost his scoring edge to Robert (Froggy) Young of unbeaten West Virginia Tech. Meegan has 373 yards rushing and Young has scored 37 points on the season.

Halfback Ed Helminski of Fairmont moved into second in the rushing department with 362 yards and in scoring with 31 points. Meegan is tied for third with 30 points.

West Liberty's Bob Scheutz grabbed the edge in pass completion percentage with a 56 per cent average on 28-of-50 successful passes. Tech's Charlie Goosman, last week's leader, dropped out of the top seven.

Dave Wiegand of Salem retained his pass receiving lead with 13 catches. Darwyn Grover, also of Salem, still is first in punting with a 44.5 yard average.

Robbins Seeks Second Title

Advances To Senior Quarter Finals

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—Tom Robbins, 66-year-old Pinehurst resident, continued his bid for a second North and South Senior Golf Championship in four years Wednesday by leading the way to the quarter-finals.

Robbins, winner of the U.S. Golf Assn. senior title last year, scored a 3 and 2 victory over Carl Herrud of Grand Rapids, Mich., in the second round. Robbins, 3 up at the turn, was two over par.

Paul Dunkel of Hackensack, N.J., who eliminated medalist Allen Rankin in the first round 1 up went 18 holes again Wednesday as he won from Ray Roberson of Indianapolis 2 up.

Dunkel shot a 41, four over par, to trail Roberson by one hole at the turn, but shot the back nine in par 36. He won the 13th, 14th and 18th.

The longest match of the day over the 6,600-yard No. 2 course resulted in a 21-hole victory for Vincent Fitzgerald of New York City over John Roberts of Columbus, Ohio. Fitzgerald led by three holes at the turn, but Roberts caught him at the 14th. They parred the next four holes and each bogeyed the next two. On the third extra hole Fitzgerald's par four gave him the match when Roberts drove into the woods and had trouble coming out.

Wayne Wolff, 220-pound 6-foot-2 Wake Forest tackle, has completed half the job of setting a new Atlantic Coast Conference punting record.

The Deacon lineman has in five games set a record-breaking average of 44.0 yards for 14 punts. The ACC record is 43.4 yards a kick set by Dick Lackey of North Carolina in 1953.

Latest ACC Service Bureau figures show Wolff has a serious challenger in Jim Williams of South Carolina, who has averaged 41.4 yards on 13 punts.

In addition, Doug Hatcher of South Carolina, has averaged 42.9 yards per kick but is one boot under the minimum for contention.

Deacon and Pete Manning continues to set the ACC pace in pass receiving, boasting a dozen catches for 189 yards and one touchdown.

In extra-point kicking, four are tied for the ACC lead with perfect marks. Nick Patella of Wake Forest, who has won three games with field goal boots, and Jack Bush of Duke have kicked three for three in the PAT department. Doug Cline of Clemson and Art Browning of Duke have made two for two.

Early Wynn Is Named AL Pitcher Of Year By UPI

Choice On 23 Of 24 Ballots Cast

NEW YORK (UPI)—Early Wynn, key pitcher in the Chicago White Sox' first pennant victory since 1919, was named the American League's Pitcher of the Year Wednesday by United Press International.

The 39-year-old right-hander from Hartford, Ala., biggest winner among active major league pitchers, was the choice of 23 of the 24 experts who made up the American League committee. One expert cast his vote for Camilo Pascual, a 17-game winner for the Washington Senators.

Wynn compiled a 22-10 record and a 3.13 earned run average, demonstrating time and again that he was the White Sox' most dependable pitcher. His 22 victories this year increased his 19-year total to 271—giving him a good chance to reach the exclusive 300-victory level.

Yet only last spring the six-foot, 200-pounder was definitely a question-mark.

Wynn had only a 14-16 record in 1958, his first with the White Sox, and he had only a 14-17 mark the previous season with the Cleveland Indians. Many experts believed two straight losing seasons at his age were definite evidence that he was on the down-grade.

Instead Wynn bounced back with the fifth 20-victory season of his career and worked in 256 innings—tops in the league.

"If I had to win one game and could have any pitcher in the majors to try to do it for me, I'd pick Wynn," was manager Al Lopez' tribute to the big hurler.

Wynn started his big league career with the Washington Senators in 1941 and pitched for that perennial second-division team for six years. Even so, he managed to compile an 18-12 record in 1943 and a 17-15 slate in 1947.

He then went to the Indians, with whom he pitched from 1948 until 1957 when he went to the White Sox in a deal that also involved Al Smith, Fred Hatfield and Minnie Minoso. Wynn won 20 games four times for the Indians with top marks of 23-12 and 23-11 in 1952 and 1954.

Wynn achieved one of his biggest ambitions this year when he scored a World Series victory—the 11-0 opener against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Wynn's record in the World Series was 1-0, as he pitched the final inning of the 4-3 victory over the Dodgers.

AL To Consider Expansion Move

Study Minneapolis Plea For Franchise

NEW YORK (AP)—The American League Wednesday set up a three-man committee to consider a franchise plea by Minneapolis and possible further expansion.

Gerald Moore, representing the Metropolitan Sports and Major League Baseball committees of Minneapolis, asked for an American League team at a meeting of club representatives.

Minneapolis-St. Paul has been staked out by the proposed Continental League, and only recently, Cal Griffith turned down an offer to move his Washington Senators to the Twin Cities when other AL owners indicated they would vote against such a shift.

Bill DeWitt, new president of the Detroit Tigers; Hank Greenberg, vice president of the Chicago White Sox, and George Weiss, general manager of the New York Yankees, form the expansion committee. They are to meet here Thursday but no announcement is expected.

The club representatives, who shelved the schedule making which was the main purpose of the meeting, also approved two All-Star games for next season. They will be played in Kansas City and New York. No specific dates were announced.

Wahoo Captures Lake Mead Race

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—William E. Boeing Jr.'s Wahoo captured the first annual Lake Mead Club Race Wednesday with an easy victory in the final heat when the first boat across the line—the favored Maverick—had to take an extra lap for jumping the gun.

Maverick, the national champion hydroplane and winner of the famed Gold Cup race, was one of three boats penalized by referee Harry Wood of Spokane, Wash., for jumping the starter's gun. The other two were Miss Seattle II and Miss Bardahl.

Market Retreats In Wake Of Steel Union's Appeal

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market responded to the injunction granted in the steel dispute with some sharp jumps in leading issues, but then retreated when the court order was held up pending a union appeal.

Wall Street waited for the announcement that would send 500,000 striking Steelworkers back to the mills, and their caution was reflected in the largely narrow price swings most issues took during the day.

An appeal from the court injunction is viewed as yet another block in the resumption of steel production. The appeal will be argued at 10 a.m. Thursday morning.

Men Receive Two Years In Rogues Case

Three Appeal After Judge Acts

Three out-of-state men, who were sentenced to the Maryland Penitentiary yesterday by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court after they were found guilty Wednesday of being rogues and vagabonds, are appealing to a higher court.

Albert S. Wright, 42, of Newport, Ky., was sentenced to two years on rogues and vagabonds charge and an additional two-year term on a charge of attempted burglary of the Montgomery Ward Store here on August 27.

Charles S. Isaacs, 32, also of Newport, and Andrew J. Forkes, 51, of Phoenix, Ariz., were sentenced to two years each in the penitentiary.

Three Appeal

After the sentences were passed by Judge Harris, attorneys for the defendants, Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson Jr., filed an appeal to the Court of Appeals of Maryland.

Wright was ordered held in $15,000 bond and the other two men in $10,000 bond each pending the outcome of the appeal.

After the three men were sentenced they were remanded to the Allegany County jail pending action of a bondsman.

Wright was sentenced at Cincinnati February 19 to one to five years for possessing burglar tools. He was released on $10,000 bond pending appeal action.

The Ohio State Supreme Court affirmed the conviction and yesterday denied a motion for a rehearing.

On Tuesday, a petit jury deliberated about an hour and a half before finding the men guilty of being rogues and vagabonds because of the possession of what the state called burglar tools.

Wright was found guilty of attempted burglary. Police Officer Harold Gibson testified he found Wright tampering with the lock on the George Street side of the store.

The guilty verdicts, as announced by H. Glenn Boyd, of Luke jury foreman, were all that the jurors had left to consider after Judge Harris granted certain defense motions for directed verdicts.

Motions Granted

Judge Harris granted the motion for a directed verdict for the defendants in the first count of the indictment, a charge of conspiracy to commit burglary of the store.

Police said Isaacs and Forkes were in the vicinity of the store but not at the door at the time that Wright was caught.

Judge Harris also granted a directed verdict for Isaacs and Forkes on the second count of attempted burglary. It was denied insofar as Wright was concerned.

COLLECTION DAY TODAY

Pages For Cooking School

These two young girls are serving as pages for the Times-News Cooking School which is being held at the Strand Theatre. Shown above are Linda Bradour, left, and Elaine Solomon. The two girls assist the two women lecturers who are conducting the four-day school. The pages are holding two of the many recipes which were prepared at the school yesterday.

Baltimore Man Heads Brewery Workers Unit

Two Cumberland Men Are Elected

James Reagan, Local 10 of Baltimore, has been elected president of the Maryland, Virginia and District of Columbia Council of Brewery, Yeast and Soft Drink Workers.

Orville M. Young, of Cumberland Local 265, was elected vice president Sunday as the council closed its annual two-day convention at the Fort Cumberland Hotel here.

Other officers elected are Charles F. Martin, Local 265, of Cumberland, executive secretary; James Ward, Local 10, and Edmund Moore, Local 177, both of Baltimore, and John Spry, Local 188, Norfolk, were elected to the council's executive board.

The session opened Saturday afternoon as the Executive Board met. Delegates and their wives were entertained that night at a luncheon sponsored by local breweries and held in the Hospitality room of the Cumberland Brewing Company.

The full convention opened Sunday at 10 a. m. at the hotel. After the session, the delegates and their wives were given a dinner by Cumberland Local 265.

Frostburg Station Seeks Daytime Hours

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission Wednesday received an application for a construction permit to change hours of operation of radio station WFRB to daytime only.

The application was filed by D. C. Loughry, trading as Western Maryland Broadcasting Co., of Frostburg, Md.

Former Local Man Accepts Airline Job

Billie T. Stafford, former resident of Cumberland, has accepted a job as a mechanic with Pan American Air Ways and is stationed in San Salvador.

Mr. Stafford, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Stafford, Williams Road, was formerly employed in Florida.

He is married to the former Ethel Swauger of Grantsville, and the couple has four children.

Phone Company To Hold Open House Next Week

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company will hold open house at its central office here Monday and Tuesday, according to Robert G. Garner, manager of the local office.

Mr. Garner said the central office building located on South Centre Street will be open to the public from 7:30 p. m. to 9:30 p. m.

Tours will be conducted through the building and residents will be given the opportunity to see how the complicated dial equipment operates.

The telephone company opened its doors Monday and Tuesday evenings to employees of the phone company and residents in Allegany County who own stock in American Telephone and Telegraph Company, of which the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company is a part.

'Foods Of Future' Theme Of Cooking School Today

"Food of the Future" will be the theme of the third day of the Times-News Cooking School which will begin today at 9:30 a.m. at the Strand Theatre.

The school has been well-attended during the first two days and many of the prize winners were residents of communities surrounding Cumberland.

Md. Property Tax Lowered By One Penny

BALTIMORE (AP) — Property owners in Maryland received an unexpected tax break Wednesday. The Board of Public Works set the State tax on property for next year at 13.75 cents per $100 of assessment. That will be a penny lower than had been fixed by the Legislature earlier this year.

Since that time, the reserve fund for paying off bonds has been increased by transfers and other unforeseen receipts so that a lower rate was made possible.

All the State property tax is used to pay off current debts for capital improvements. The rate this year was 13.42.

Police Check New Acts Of Vandalism

City police are investigating three fresh outbreaks of vandalism here.

The Stallings Towing Service, Henderson Avenue, told the Detective Bureau that children are damaging cars it has towed on the lot over weekends.

A windshield was broken on one car several days ago, the firm said.

Garret's Clothing Store, 325 Virginia Avenue, reported yesterday that children playing in the rear of the store Tuesday evening broke a window on the second floor.

Frank Fleckenstein, rear of 520 Greene Street, reported that children Tuesday night pushed in a cardboard he had placed on a broken window of his shop, upsetting two trays of type.

Fort Hill Boosters Will Meet Tonight

The Fort Hill Boosters Club will meet today at 7:30 p. m. at Fort Hill High School.

H. Clifford Spiker, chairman, said the club will inaugurate a program for helping the school's athletic program.

Recipes to be demonstrated at the third session of the school, in addition to the futarama pork roast, will be perky lamb loaf, twin date loaves, midwest casserole (made with canned luncheon meat), party steak (made with beef round steak), Polynesian pork, black bottom pie, far east dinner (the main ingredient of which is sirloin or round steak cut into strips), Canadian-style bacon, and canasta salad (made with veal cubes).

The tour included six exhibits which were described by employees of the local phone firm. One of the exhibits displayed several of the experimental phones which the company hopes to use in the future.

The central office building on South Centre Street was erected in 1947 and Cumberland converted to the dial system in August 1955.

At the present time there are 20,300 telephones in the city and about 130,000 local calls are handled daily on the equipment here.

Prize winners yesterday included:

Market baskets — Mrs. Bruce Swauger, 137 Hanover Street; Mrs. Kathleen Hockaday, 5 Grandview Terrace; Marie Chambers, 133 S. Liberty Street; Mrs. William Bittner, Corriganville; Virginia Scritchfield, RD 1, Mt. Savage; Mrs. John Coleman, 505 Dunbar Drive; Mrs. Pauline Bach, Corriganville; Mrs. J. H. Stevenson, Church Street, Ellerslie; Mrs. Loretta Sheppard, 38 North Liberty Street, and Mrs. June Burke, 614 Maryland Avenue.

Case of 7-Up — M. A. Margherita, 39 Bridge Street, Ridgeley. Taylor meat thermometer — Mrs. John Bartlett, 1015 McMullen Highway.

Dexter cutlery set — Mrs. Pearl Christner, 166 West Street, LaVale.

Food dishes — Cushion shoulder supreme, Jeannine Cummins, Fairhope, Pa.; mom's pot roast, Mrs. Pearl Lowery, RD 1, Hyndman; trick or treat cookies, Marion A. Woltz, 247 Columbia Street; broiled sirloin steak, Mrs. Ruthella Fey, RD 3; county fair hotdogs, Mrs. William Fansler, Baltimore Pike; peach upside down cake, Mrs. Richard Reid, 72 Marion Street; and roast baked ham, Mrs. Hazel Herb, 118 South Allegany Street.

Those who have attended the first two days of the four-day school have found that, with Miss Janice Plager as lecturer, there is never a dull moment. Aided by Miss Joan Mawick, assistant lecturer, she keeps the program humming along like clockwork from beginning to end.

The subject matter which they present daily is based in part on the results of intensive studies which have been carried on in home economics laboratories of leading colleges and universities, by the United States Department of Agriculture and by the National Live Stock and Meat Board and other research organization. At the same time, they are adding to their store of cookery knowledge through their contacts with experienced homemakers who are happy to pass on many of their ideas, thus making them available to other homemakers.

Agreeable Rent For Health Lab To Be Discussed

Gaines Will Meet With City Oct. 28

A State Health Department official will meet with the Mayor and Council October 28 at 1:30 p.m. to begin working out "reasonable arrangements" for payment of rent to the City for third floor facilities in the Public Safety Building.

He is Clemens W. Gaines, chief of the Bureau of Management of the State Health Department, who informed the city last month that Dr. Perry F. Prather, state director, had turned over to him a communication from the city in order that he might work out a reasonable arrangement for the payment of rent for the branch laboratory.

The arrangements for the coming were made after Mr. Gaines asked Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, to inform the Mayor and Council he will be here next Wednesday.

City officials have told Dr. van Strien that the time will be satisfactory.

The State Branch laboratory was started here a number of years ago with the late W. Arnold Gunther as chief bacteriologist.

Miss Pauline A. Fisher is now in charge of the laboratory which is an independent unit and is directly under the supervision of the State Department of Health in Baltimore.

During the first six months of 1959 the laboratory made 23,226 examinations on infectious diseases, did 2,251 bioanalytical laboratory tests, performed 3,848 sanitary bacteriology tests and made 1,168 sanitary and drug chemistry examinations.

Judge Denies Pen Inmate Habeas Corpus

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris has denied a writ of habeas corpus to an inmate of the Maryland Penitentiary, who is serving a 20-year sentence on a charge of robbery with a deadly weapon.

Howard Hentz, who was tried and sentenced in the Criminal Court of Baltimore on December 6, 1943, asked Judge Harris to consider his petition as he sought to learn if his commitment papers are proper and that he is being properly held.

Judge Harris, in denying the writ, said that Hentz is properly detained at the present time and is not entitled to a writ to determine the validity of his sentences.

Hentz could have had his case reviewed under the Criminal Post Conviction Procedure Act, from which he could appeal to the Court of Appeals of Maryland in the event of adverse ruling or petition for a writ of habeas corpus from which he has no right of appeal.

On February 21, 1940, Hentz was sentenced to five years in the Maryland House of Correction on a charge of robbery with a deadly weapon.

On December 6, 1943 he was sentenced to the penitentiary for robbery with a deadly weapon and on the same date was handed five additional 10 year sentences which were to run concurrently.

On September 7, 1949 he was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary on a charge of attempted escape. The sentence is to begin at the expiration of the sentence he is now serving.

Local Kiwanis Club To Hear Program

Herman Smith, minister of music at First Presbyterian Church, and his wife, who is organist at the church, will present a musical program at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Rotary Club today at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA.

The club also will elect officers for the coming year.

Reserve Officers Form Allegany County Chapter

The newly-organized Allegany County Chapter, Reserve Officers Association, will receive its charter from Gen. Harry Hawkins Vaughan, at a dinner meeting November 7 at 7 p.m. at Ali Ghan Shrine County Club.

Gen. Vaughan, best known as military aide to President Harry S. Truman, is now retired and is active in the Reserve Officers Association. He has agreed to come here for the charter night affair and to address the local association.

The new group which has ten charter members, plus a number who have joined since the charter closed, has Capt. Wallace T. Smith as president and Chief Warrant Officer Ernest B. Treat as secretary-treasurer.

CWO Treat said last night that the dinner meeting is open to association members, their wives, prospective members and any local persons who would like to meet and hear Gen. Vaughan speak.

A native of Glasgow, Mo., Gen. Vaughan was educated in public schools at St. Louis and Westminster College, Fulton, Mo., where he was graduated in 1916.

He enlisted in Battery A, 1st Missouri Field Artillery, Missouri National Guard in 1916 and was inducted into federal service August 5, 1917. He attended Officer Training School at Fort Sill, and was discharged as a sergeant from the 128th F.A. Battalion March 31, 1918 to accept a commission of second lieutenant.

He was promoted to first lieutenant April 19, 1918, and to captain March 26, 1919.

During World War I, he served in France with the 33rd Division AEF and was discharged at Camp Funston, Kansas, May 23, 1919.

On October 9, 1922 appointed a captain in the Field Artillery Officers Reserve Corps and promoted to major in 1927. Then in 1938 he was promoted to lieutenant colonel. He served the usual tours of duty and also attended Field Artillery School at Fort Sill and also at Fort Leavenworth.

On January 1, 1942, he was recalled to active duty and was assigned with the Field Artillery Replacement Training Center at Camp Roberts, Calif. He was ordered to the South Pacific in March 1942 and served in Australia and New Guinea until August 1943. In November of that year he was hospitalized due to injury suffered in a plane crash and was discharged from military hospital in January 1944. At that time he was assigned to duty with the Truman Committee of the Senate.

Gen. Vaughan was appointed military aide to the vice president January 25, 1945, and aide to the president on April 15, 1945. He became a major general May 31, 1946, and was retired February 1, 1953.

Gen. Vaughan wears several decorations including the Silver Star with cluster, Bronze Star medal with two clusters, and the commendation medal. By virtue of his position as military aide to the President he was decorated with honors from Argentina, Cuba, Dominican Republic, France, Guatemala, Italy, Mexico, Netherlands, Nicaragua, Brazil, Greece and Belgium.

Picket Halts Building Job

An apparent labor dispute halted construction shortly after it was started yesterday on the $90,000 structure to be built at the corner of Baltimore and Centre streets.

Representatives of the Building Trades Council set up a picket shortly after fill dirt was transported to the site yesterday.

The building when completed will house two modern stores facing Baltimore Street. The Darling Shop, now located at 123 Baltimore Street, has leased part of the structure, while the second business has not yet been announced.

The lone picket's banner stated that laborers on the job were not members of the Building Trades Council.

Flintstone Man Jailed On Appeal

Fails To Pay Fines Of $210

A Flintstone area man was committed to Allegany County jail yesterday in default of $210 fines imposed in an appeal case in Allegany County Circuit Court when he was found guilty of three violations of Maryland game laws.

Joseph Lee Wallizer of Star Route, Flintstone, was fined $100 for the use of deer lick, $100 for hunting deer in a closed season and $10 for hunting deer without a license.

Earlier this year he was taken before Ned R. Hose, trial magistrate at Oldtown, found guilty and fined. Wallizer appealed his case, which was heard yesterday by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Joseph J. Keating, game warden, arrested the man on July 28 near Black Sulphur Run on Polish Mountain.

In court yesterday Mr. Keating testified and showed pictures of a blind built in the area, salt deer lick and the .32 calibre deer rifle belonging to Wallizer. The rifle was confiscated.

Wallizer testified that he was groundhog hunting. He was convicted in 1953 of spotlighting deer. Mr. Keating said.

Authorities said last night that about seven deer licks have been spotted in the area where Wallizer was arrested.

Three other appeal cases including two non-support cases were dismissed by the state yesterday when they were heard in Circuit Court.

Chester Leroy Collins, Williams Road, was found guilty of non-support of his wife and three minor children and sentenced to six months in the House of Correction when he appeared before Juvenile Magistrate Louis Fatkin on August 20.

Yesterday he entered a plea of not guilty when he appeared before Judge Harris. The case was dismissed.

Louis Arnone of Frostburg appeared before Louis Fatkin, juvenile magistrate, on October 13 and was found guilty of non-support of his wife. Sentence was withheld and Arnone ordered to pay $10 a week plus $5 on arrears of $150. On appeal his case was dismissed yesterday.

William Frank May of RD 3, city, who was found not guilty of a reckless driving charge during a hearing before Trial Magistrate Peter J. Carpentieri, had his case dismissed yesterday.

Food Dealers Meet Here

Guy Musey, left, president of the Independent Retail Food Distributors of Maryland, is being welcomed to Cumberland by Thomas B. Finan, right, Secretary of State of Maryland, during the 15th annual dinner meeting of the Independent Retail Food Dealers of Western Maryland which was held in St. Mary's social hall last night. Looking on is William Beier, president of the association. J. Goodloe Jackson, executive secretary of the association, was toastmaster at the dinner attended by about 650 retail grocers and associated businessmen and guests. Mr. Finan gave a few remarks during the dinner program.

Schellsburg Man Hurt In Crash

EDGEWOOD, Md. (AP) — Fred S. Clark of Baltimore was killed Tuesday night when his auto rammed into a truck on U.S. 40 near Joppa, State Trooper David Tutcheon reported.

Tutcheon said Clark was traveling south in the northbound lane. The truck driver, Earl Henry Lepert, 46, of Schellsburg, Pa., was injured.
